Dust Cloud At the Window

Recently I had a few minutes with Hugh (Chief) Bennett, father of soil conservation. If one listed the ten great Americans living today "Big Hugh" would be on every list thoughtfully prepared.

In 1935 I was in Washington when the clouds were a poisonous yellow. The skies over much of America were ominous in those days, colored so by dust from the vast areas of Kansas, Oklahoma, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Wyoming and parts of Texas where the dust drifted as high as ten feet across roads and rail lines. Those were the days when cattle died of thirst and hunger. Literally hundreds of ranches and homesteads were deserted, the dust drifted across their porches and against the doors. Death rates from pneumonia climbed high.

It was in Washington that year I first heard the story of how a few weeks before an obscure man named Hugh Bennett had aroused Congress to action. It was a worried Congress. It was confronted with a disaster of great magnitude. And no one had yet supplied the answers.

There was a bill before the Congress. Wellington Brink tells the story fully in his biography of Hugh Bennett. This bill, H. R. 7054, provided for money for conservation and research.

Storm

Hugh Bennett was testifying. He talked slowly, one eye on the window. He had had a weather report. He spoke of wind erosion which had put 4 million acres out of commission and damaged 60 million more. He told the committee of dust blowing 2,000 miles out to sea and of clouds of it over the gulf. He spoke of a dust storm which had blown dust to Washington a few weeks before, but because of the wind direction most of it had gone north of the metropolitan area.

"Each of these storms swept out of the cultivated area of the Trans-Mississippi region east of the Rockies, not less than 300,000,000 tons of fertile soil. That equals about 150,000 acres of land 12 inches deep."

"How much did you say?" asked a startled committee member.

Big Hugh repeated it.

"It happens," he said, "because the short buffalo grass has been broken up and the land cultivated until the decaying vegetable matter in the soil was dissipated through oxidation, along with some gentle winds across the land. Then, in time of great drouth, as now, the soil lies in a loose, powdery condition, ready to be lifted by any wind that blows. The coarser particles, of no real value, remain. The good soil goes."

He had learned, had Big Hugh, before going to his meeting, that a dust storm was being brought to Washington proper by prevailing winds of the day. He had talked slowly, given his facts in detail, bolstering them with the official records, hoping the while for his real witness—the dust itself—to arrive.

One of the senators looked at a window.

"It's getting dark," he said.

"Maybe it's dust," said another, half joking.

"It is dust," said Big Hugh.

All gathered at the window. They watched the skies turn that curious copper-yellow color. The sun disappeared.

Witness

At that moment a telegram was delivered to Committee-member Senator Hatch from a friend in Oklahoma City. "Worst of all dust storms now raging in this city. Street lights on. You can't see a full block."

The telegram was passed around. The senators looked out again at tons of western swirling soil in their own darkened skies. They went back and reported out favorably the bill which soon became Public Law No. 46, the first soil conservation act in the history of this nation or any other.

This was some years before "Our Plundered Planet," a most excellent book by Fairfield Osborn, and also well before William Vogt, Louis Bromfield and others had begun to write and stir the people of America to work. He was the first.

At 71 he looks 60. He is strong, active, and filled with an immense amount of energy. A presidential order has kept him on past the foolish retirement law which so often takes valuable teachers and doers out of their jobs.

Wherever the soil is improved; wherever grass has covered the wounded hills and plains; wherever land has been reclaimed; wherever rivers and streams run clear where for generations they ran red and yellow with top soil—there is the continuing monument to Hugh Bennett.

Britain Gives Iran Oil Pact Ultimatum

Negotiator Stokes Ready To Leave at Noon Today

By JOSEPH MAZANDI

TEHRAN, Aug. 21—(UP)—Great Britain Tuesday night handed Iran an ultimatum, setting Wednesday noon as the deadline for accepting a British formula for settling the oil nationalization dispute.

Unless Iran withdraws her opposition to the "rock bottom" British offer, Richard Stokes, the chief British negotiator, said he is ready to label his mission a "failure" and pack off to London.

Complete breakdown of the months-long negotiations on such terms would create an explosive mid-Eastern crisis, with serious international implications.

OFFER WITHDRAWN

Stokes, lord privy seal in the British cabinet, had announced only a few hours earlier that Britain had withdrawn "with deep regret" an eight-point settlement proposal because Iran had refused to agree to any workable formula for the continued services of 2,500 British oil experts.

Stokes, in setting the deadline for Iran's acceptance of his terms, said the talks for which he came to Iran had "completely broken down."

"That I have failed, I regret," he said. "I can only hope that the government by noon tomorrow will think again and accept the abundance of help and good will in the interests of Iran which, even at this late hour, still are available.

POINT OF FAILURE

In announcing the withdrawal of the British settlement offer, Stokes revealed that the talks failed on the issue of conditions under which British oil experts would continue working for the nationalized company which seized the properties of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

Stokes said he had offered to remove the plan for the British-run refining and marketing company, if Iran would agree to the appointment of a British general manager to "take charge of all day to day and technical affairs in the refineries and fields, and be responsible to the national company."

This too was declined.

The implications of a final collapse of negotiations were seen in the presence, off the oil port of Abadan, of 10 British warships. They stood ready to evacuate British personnel and to land British Marines if there is violence which threatens British lives.

4 Charged With Auto Thefts Here

Atlanta-N. Y. Ring Declared Smashed

A large auto theft ring operating between Atlanta and New York and capitalizing on lax Georgia auto title laws was believed broken up Tuesday with the arrest of four men, detectives said.

This was the third time within the past 30 days that Atlanta officers had reported the smashing of auto theft rings.

Lt. J. L. Tuggle identified the four as Lee Morgan, 30, of 495 Montgomery Ferry Dr., N. E., operator of a used car lot at Simpson and Williams Sts., N. W.; Michael Reese, 41, Brooklyn used car dealer; Jack R. Canady, 27, of Brooklyn, and Billy Ward, 25, alias Billy Mobley, of a Eugenia Place, S. E., address.

Morgan posted $2,000 bond, Tuggle said, while the other three remained in city jail for suspicion of larceny of automobiles.

Immediately after the arrests detectives located more than 20 late model autos and recovered 17, Tuggle declared. He said the four-man ring operated "as smooth as silk" in furnishing stolen Atlanta autos for sale on Reese's lot in Brooklyn.

STARTED WITH TIP

Detectives began work on the ring 10 days ago after receiving information that a man from New York was here looking for "hot" cars, Tuggle related. He said larceny squad detectives located one of the machines in a north-side garage and for a week maintained an around-the-clock watch on the machine.

Morgan, who has a previous police record, was taken into custody when he came for the machine, Tuggle said. He added Ward, Canady and Reese were arrested later. Identification Bureau records show both Ward and Canady have previous police records.

License plates for the autos were obtained under fictitious names and addresses at the State Capitol, detectives said. They added that the motor numbers on the cars were changed to conform to those on the registration certificates and then Ward and Canady drove the machines to New York for $100 each.

FLEW HERE FOR TAGS

Sgt. U. G. Oakes and Dets. G. F. Barrett, L. H. Satterfield, Harry McCollister, R. E. Sheppard, D. H. Beasley, and Walt Smith co-operated in the investigation.

Tuggle, meantime, disclosed his squad arrested an Oklahoma City resident who flew to Atlanta to obtain license plates for use on allegedly stolen cars. He added the man, identified as Earl Anderson, alias Huckaby, was wanted by federal officers for auto thefts.

"I asked him why he flew to Atlanta to buy license places," Tuggle said. "He said the plates were easy to buy here—the same old story. Georgia doesn't have a good auto title law."

Tuggle estimated his squad has arrested "at least 50" persons for auto theft within the past 30 days—including three auto theft rings.

8 More Casualties

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—(AP)—The Defense Department Tuesday announced eight additional casualties of the Korean war. The list (No. 381) included one killed, six wounded and one missing.

Tenant Held In DeKalb Strangling

Victim's Effects Found Near Home

By KEELER McCARTNEY

DeKalb investigators early Wednesday declared a 48-year-old Negro tenant once arrested for murder "definitely was involved" in the necktie garrot death of Mrs. Garnett N. Gabriel, 55, wife of an Atlanta insurance executive.

DeKalb Police Chief Hoyt Sutton said the Negro, Homer Almond, employee of the Georgia Bridge Co., "had admitted some of the circumstances involved in the slaying but denied that he committed the actual slaying."

"We are certain that Almond was involved—if he did not actually do the killing himself," Sutton declared. "We checked on his story about his activities Monday afternoon and found the story utterly false. We have definitely placed him on the scene."

Police efforts are directed towards proving the ownership of a red necktie, part of which was used to strangle Mrs. Gabriel before she was assaulted and the body placed behind the furnace in the basement. Sutton said a part of the tie was found buried with Mrs. Gabriel's missing clothing in a stump hole near the small tenant house where the Negro lived.

Almond admitted wearing a white shirt Monday, Sutton related. He said investigators found rouge smudges on the front of the shirt and perspiration stains about the collar where a red tie had faded.

Almond's wife was away from home until 3:30 p. m. Monday, the chief said. He added an autopsy at Grady Hospital showed Mrs. Gabriel met her death before that time.

The Negro first loomed as a suspect when neighbors told police they did not hear dogs barking at the Gabriel home during the day Monday. Neighbors explained the Gabriels owned several dogs and that they barked furiously when a stranger appeared.

Ravine Yields Naked Body Of Brunette

CUSSETA, Aug. 21—(AP)—Investigation foundered Tuesday night in the mysterious death of a shapely brunette whose body was found nude in a lonely ravine as an autopsy failed to disclose immediately the cause of her death.

Muscogee and Chattahoochee County officers and the Georgia Bureau of Investigation admitted they were left without clues.

Sheriff N. E. Wright, of Chattahoochee County, said the body had been in the open pit more than 48 hours.

The corpse was discovered Tuesday morning in the ravine south of Cusseta, in Chattahoochee County. Cusseta is 20 miles southeast of Columbus.

The victim was described as being about 20 or 21 years old, five feet three inches tall, and weighing about 115 pounds.

Notre Dame Doors Open To Ousted Army Cadets

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 21—(AP)—Any or all of the 90 recently expelled West Point cadets can attend Notre Dame University with expenses paid if they avoid all varsity athletics.

This offer, disclosed Tuesday by Notre Dame, was made by an anonymous person. He was quoted as saying he made it because:

"I feel with millions that in the American tradition a man who makes a mistake should have a reasonable chance to rehabilitate himself."

Notre Dame called the offer "in keeping with good Christianity."

Among the 90 cadets dismissed from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point were almost all members of the Army football team. Army and Notre Dame, longtime gridiron rivals, haven't met since 1947.

$1,400 COST

The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame, announced the offer. In addition to barring those who accept it from engaging in any varsity athletics at Notre Dame, it requires that they need the financial help.

Father Cavanaugh estimated the cost for each student at about $1,400 a year.

He said the donor does not "condone" any violations of the Academy's honor code in connection with cribbing on examinations, and he "realizes the responsibilities of authorities at West Point."

Those who want to accept the offer must do so by Sept. 1. Registration begins Sept. 11.

CARDINAL ASKED AID

The offer affecting the Roman Catholic university applies to both Catholic and non-Catholic cadets. It affects those who were athletes and those who were not. Applicants must meet Notre Dame "standards" and academic requirements.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Catholic archbishop of New York, recently asked three Catholic schools in New York to open their doors to the cadets. The schools are Fordham, Manhattan and Iona.

At Notre Dame, Father Cavanaugh said the offer there is "truly in keeping with good Christianity and our American heritage."

He said the expelled cadets should be "given an opportunity, after repenting their mistake, to take their places in society as moral, responsible leaders." He added:

"The implications and the financial assistance involved in this generous offer are extremely far reaching. I am hopeful that the young men who qualify may find themselves very happy with us at Notre Dame."

Segregation Is Attacked In Suit Here

Negro Files Case In Federal Court

A New York Negro Tuesday asked the federal court here to kill Georgia's segregation laws.

James L. P. Rumble, of 421 Tenth Avenue, New York City, filed a petition for a declaratory judgment, charging that the laws regarding segregation on trains and busses and in the schools violate the United States Constitution.

Georgia Attorney General Eugene Cook and Fulton Sol. Gen. Paul Webb were named defendants in Rumble's petition. Rumble said he, as a taxpaying citizen, is entitled to challenge the laws.

IMPERILS LIFE, HE SAYS

As a traveler through Georgia in his line of business, Rumble contended the Georgia segregation law places him in peril of life and limb. Should he violate the State law, he would be subject to fine or imprisonment, or both, he said.

One Georgia law authorizes conductors and other employees in charge of passenger cars to seat white and Negro passengers separately. They are given police powers to carry out these provisions.

Another Georgia law prohibits white and Negro children from attending the same school.

TROUTMAN PREDICTION

An eventual end of segregation on public carriers was predicted by Henry Troutman, Atlanta attorney for Seaboard Air Line Company, in commenting on the new test. He forecast that the United States Supreme Court will eventually outlaw segregation entirely on public carriers. Already, he added, the courts have ordered equal facilities for both races, and the high court may order all cars opened to Negro passengers.

Gov. Talmadge declared that "as long as I remain Governor of Georgia we will utilize every resource at our command to preserve, uphold, defend and enforce the segregation laws of this State."

The petition was filed here by Atty. Joseph Golstein, of 66 Court Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., for Rumble.

Official forecast for Wednesday calls for "considerably cloudy, a chance of scattered thundershowers and slightly cooler." Thursday "partly cloudy, not so warm weather" is expected.

A high of 90 is forecast for Wednesday after an indicated morning low of 70. Thursday the thermometer is not expected to rise above 86 after a drop to 68.

Mercury here Tuesday soared from a low mark of 71 to a high of 96 at 3:30 p. m., which tied the previous high season mark set June 24. The heat victim, who received treatment at Grady Hospital, was identified as Henry Cecil Kennedy, of 312 W. Lyle St., College Park.

Cobb Lifer Flees Gang Under Fire

MARIETTA, Aug. 21—A Cobb prison farm life-termer broke away from a county road work gang Tuesday afternoon under gunfire.

Bloodhounds were searching the Kennesaw area for Herman Kellum, 22-year-old inmate serving a term for armed robbery. He was described as weighing 176 pounds, six feet, one inch tall, with ruddy complexion, brown hair and blue eyes.

Frank Poore, serving three to four years for larceny of an auto, broke and ran with Kellum, but fell over a bank while dodging the gunfire and injured his knee. He was recaptured immediately by guards.

Armed Force At Kaesong Held Symbol

By ROBERT VERMILLION

TOKYO, Wednesday, Aug. 22—(UP)—The United Nations command radio accused the Communist armistice negotiators Tuesday of "bad faith" as a series of Communist protests against alleged neutrality violations at Kaesong brought the truce talks closer to collapse.

Communist propaganda broadcasts threatened "retribution" against "American aggressors" for the death of a Chinese patrol leader near Kaesong Sunday and the No. 1 Red negotiator accused the Allies of machinegunning a Communist truce jeep.

The UN broadcast to Korea said Communist delaying tactics at the armistice negotiations had turned the city of Kaesong "into a universal symbol for bad faith" and that the city was picked to intimidate UN delegates by a show of force.

REJECTION COMES

The broadcast came as North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il rejected as "unsatisfactory" Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy's statement on the shooting of the Communist patrol leader and again demanded heavy punishment of those responsible and additional assurance such incidents will not be repeated.

After 43 days, the UN radio said, the people of the world have the right to ask "why are the United Nations delegates . . . constantly forced to divert their attention to the question of armed personnel in the conference area, sometimes within plain sight of the green-topped table?"

The broadcasts said the UN had found no evidence the attack on a Communist patrol last Saturday was carried out by Allied elements and added:

"Incidents such as these throw considerable light on the Communist reason for choosing Kaesong. It is now quite obvious that Kaesong was picked in order to intimidate the UN delegates by a show of force. That failing, the conferences could be stalemated with a series of side issues blocking the main discussions.

SHIP PROPOSAL CITED

"As usual, the Communists claim they are blameless . . . they never would have suggested an incident-proof ship anchored in Wonsan harbor. In such a setting the conference would have had clear sailing. The Communists, however, insisted on Kaesong. Tailor-made for 'incidents,' the city has been turned by their actions into a universal symbol for bad faith."

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway originally suggested the armistice talks be held aboard a neutral hospital ship in Wonsan harbor.

It met with the usual Allied reply that the Communists must announce the time of departure and route of travel if such episodes are not to happen again.

The United Nations subcommittee delegates, Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodges and Maj. Gen. Lawrence C. Craigie, meanwhile, returned from Kaesong at about 11:10 a. m. Wednesday after another roundtable discussion.

They were accompanied by Col. G. C. Mudgett and Lt. Horace I. Underwood.

Navy Lets Contract For Atom-Powered Sub

By AUSTIN STEVENS

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—In a one-sentence statement, the Navy's Bureau of Ships formally announced Tuesday that a contract "for the first nuclear-powered submarine" had been awarded to the electric Boat Company of Groton, Conn.

This indicated that development of an atomic, or nuclear-powered submarine had passed from the experimental to the construction stage.

The announcement was made at the Pentagon late Tuesday. There was no elaboration.

UNLIMITED RANGE

Formal plans for building a hull for a nuclear-powered submarine followed a series of official views of optimism over the prospects of completing a power plant that would give undersea craft virtually unlimited range and perhaps higher speeds than hitherto achieved.

Work on a nuclear power plant has been under way for more than a year. Several designs and several companies have been involved, including the Westinghouse Corporation, working in cooperation with the Argonne National Laboratories and the General Electric Company. A "dry-land model" of the power plant is reported to have been assembled at the Arco, Idaho, installations of the atomic energy commission.

In its most recent report the Atomic Energy Commission guardedly mentioned construction of buildings and facilities in connection with work on two protype submarine reactors.

COSTS

It has been estimated that the cost of developing a nuclear power plant would be about $26,000,000. In April, when President Truman sent to Congress the administration's $60,670,000,000 military budget for the fiscal year 1952, a defense department official said the budget included $29,500,000 for the atomic submarine. This was believed to be only the hull construction cost.

The Electric Boat Company, prime builder of undersea craft, has been making preparations for many months to construct such a vessel. There has been no indication of the craft's size or capabilities.

Schools' Operation Under Plan Slated for TV 'Press Gallery'

Operation of Atlanta and Fulton County Schools under the Plan of Improvement will be discussed on Press Gallery, new video show on WSB-TV (Channel 8) from 8:30 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. Wednesday.

Guests will be Miss Ira Jarrell, superintendent of Atlanta Schools, and Paul West, superintendent of Fulton County Schools.

They will be questioned on all phases of the new school operation by Ralph McGill, editor of The Atlanta Constitution; Leo Aikman, editorial assistant of The Atlanta Constitution, and Mrs. Martha Smith, of The Constitution Home and Family Department.

The show, which each Wednesday night brings together a panel of Atlanta newspaper men and women and persons identified with timely news, is sponsored this Wednesday night by The Atlanta Constitution.

Senators' Tax Plan Called Easier on Middle Groups

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—(AP)—The Senate Finance Committee wrote a new formula Tuesday for a personal income tax increase of $2,435,000,000 It gihtens considerably the load the House's $2,847,000,000 plan would lay on bigger incomes, and committeemen said it hits a little lighter even in the lowest brackets.

Chairman George (Dem., Ga.), of the senate committee told reporters there is a lighter increase for the "middle income" groups in the new plan than in the House formula, but did not define "middle."

In effect the new formula would apply the increase to what the taxpayer has left after paying the present levies. That cuts down the proportion of income affected in the higher brackets where the current rates already take away a big percentage.

Here is the committee's process for figuring higher levies on incomes:

Compute your tax as under present law.

Then subtract the amount of tax from your surtax net income, which is what you have left after exemptions and deductions.

Figure an additional defense tax of 3 per cent on that portion of the remainder up to $2,000 and 4 percent on the portion above $2,000.

Add those defense taxes to the first figure, which is the amount you would pay under present law, and the result is your new tax liability.

The committee staff gave an example to illustrate:

A single man with $5,000 gross income would have a surtax net income of $3,900 after taking out exemptions and deductions. On that amount his tax under present law would be $818.

Subtracting the $818 from the $3,900 he would have $3,082 subject to the extra defense tax.

He would pay 3 percent, or $60 on the first $2,000. On the remaining $1,082 he would pay 4 percent, or $43.28.

Thus his additional levy would be $103.28.

That would bring him out just above the levy under the House plan.

The House process consists of adding 12½ percent to whatever the taxpayer now pays.

The increase in the $818 tax of the man in the example figures out at $102.25.

ITU's Independents Cry Dictator at Progressives

Say Details on Spending Of $16 Million Are Withheld

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

Leaders of the Independent Party of the International Typographical Union charged here Tuesday that Progressive Party leaders now in power had used "dictatorial and arbitrary methods" in running the union and had failed to give a clear, detailed accounting of the $16,444,683 spent by the union from 1945 to 1950.

Alfred J. Whittle, Secretary to Independent Party President Charles D. Tucker, said ITU President Woodruff Randolph had "drawn an iron curtain around the finances" of Unitypo, a corporation set up by the ITU to establish newspaper plants over the country.

Whittle said the ITU had loaned Unitypo about $3,000,000 but "none of the union members know where the money has gone."

ACCOUNTING

"Is there any wonder," he asked, "that we want an accounting?"

Whittle said the weekly publisher's magazine, Editor and Publisher, was "better informed on how ITU funds are being spent than is the average union member."

He said the Independents, one of two factions in the huge union, wanted a "detailed accounting that can be understood by the average printer."

"If the union buys 500 stamps," he said, "we want to know it buys 500 stamps."

Whittle, supported by other Independent Party leaders, made his charges at a press conference during the 93rd annual ITU convention now in session at the Biltmore Hotel.

Informed of Whittle's charges, President Randolph declared:

"CONFIDENT"

"Mr. Whittle is utterly uninformed and wholly inaccurate. All union funds have been properly and legally accounted for in every detail. That's all I have to say."

Whittle said the Independents were "confident of victory" in the next election of ITU officers by referendum in 1952.

He said the Board of Independent Party had nominated the following candidates:

C. G. Sparkman, of Detroit, for president; John R. Evans, of Washington, D. C., for first vice-president; Charles Brown, of Los Angeles, for second vice-president, and George Bante, of Chicago, for secretary-treasurer.

He said nominations were subject to ratification at an open meeting of the Independent Party Thursday night.

He stressed the Independents were in favor of winning all strikes "and spending all money necessary to win all strikes."

ITU delegates held a memorial service Tuesday afternoon to pay tribute to the 68 former delegates who died during the past year.

Earlier, they heard the top political expert of the American Federation of Labor note that labor's support in the 1952 presidential election had not been promised either the Republicans or the Democrats.

Joseph Keenan, director of labor's League for Political Education, said the support would "depend on the candidate."

Keenan told reporters he believed President Truman could have the Democratic nomination if he so desired since the only opposition to the President would come from the South.

ITU delegates began discussion of more than 125 proposed changes to the union's constitution, by-laws and general laws.

The convention gave the ITU president the authority to launch an "active campaign on a national level for the promotion of the union label and good will of the International Typographical Union."

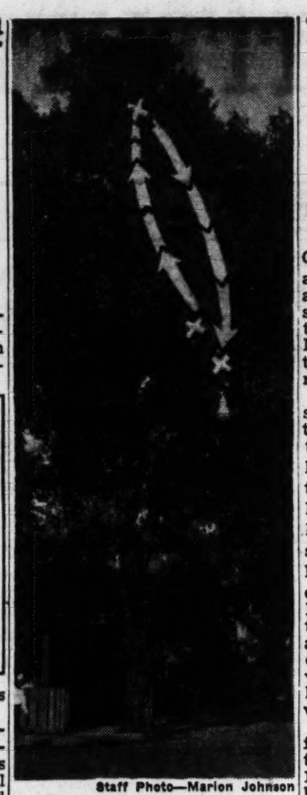

Delegates added a section to the general laws, reading: "Where contracts or agreements provide for holidays with pay, the foreman shall not be permitted to change regular off days to such holidays in order to evade payment for the holiday."

An amendment to strike out a section of the laws instructing subordinate unions to include in all contract proposals a provision seeking retirement pensions was defeated. Thus unions will continue to seek retirement pensions on a local basis.

Delegates adjourned early to attend a barbecue at Lakewood Park. They will resume discussion of proposed changes in their laws Wednesday and probably will continue through Friday.

RESCUE NIPPED

Kitten's Route Traced

'Rescue Cat' In Need of Long Ladder

A hungry kitten high in a towering elm at Walnut and Beckwith Sts., S. W., was in urgent need Tuesday night of a long ladder and possibly a psychiatrist to end a two-weeks ordeal.

It was a dog that chased the small black animal up the tree 14 days ago, the memory of which has probably foiled attempts to rescue it.

M. E. Lind of the Atlanta Humane Society tried for several hours Tuesday, but his ladder—only 25 feet long—was inadequate. Lind tried climbing after the cat, tearing his shirt and scratching himself in the attempt, but the frightened animal only climbed higher in the tall tree. The animal returned to a point near its original roose after Lind descended. A noose on a fishing pole also failed.

Residents of the neighborhood who had made previous attempts at rescue met with the same elusive action. The kitty climbs to the topmost part of the tree, moves down about halfway when no one is around.

The Atlanta Fire Department is prohibited from using equipment to rescue animals but Lind was looking for a longer ladder and said he would try again Wednesday if he found one.

Assemblies Hear Upshaw On Healing

William D. Upshaw, former Georgia congressman who threw away his crutches after 59 years as a cripple, Tuesday urged Assemblies of God members to return to their homes with "enlivened consciences to fight the twin-threat to Christianity; communism and liquor."

The out-spoken Californian speaking to the final session of the international convention here, told the group he was a Baptist who believed in Divine healing. "I started out leaning on crutches, now I'm leaning on the everlasting arms," he shouted to the crowd who approved his statement with oral "Amens."

William D. Upshaw

Upshaw, on crutches during his four terms in the Georgia legislature, was injured at the age of 17 when he well during work on his father's farm. He was nominated for the presidency of the United States by the prohibitionists in 1932.

Although the convention closed Tuesday night, services will continue through Wednesday night. Raymond T. Richey of Houston, Texas, will conduct meetings at 10 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m.

In general assembly Tuesday, the group authorized the establishment of its Women's Missionary Council on a national scale. Mrs. Ruth Steelberg of Springfield was named director of the Council.

The group complied with a petition of the Federal Civil Defense liaison office by authorizing all ministers to co-operate in the Civil Defense program. They voted for the National Association of Evangelicals, of which the church is a member, to sponsor an Assembly of God chaplaincy commission with the Rev. Douglas Scott as commissioned agent to be stationed in Washington, D. C.

Earlier, the assemblies set up a commission to study the church's divorce and remarriage rule.

Decatur Halts Duplex Units

Some 30 Decaturites from the McKoy-West Hill-Sterling Street area Tuesday night protested to City Commission the building of three duplexes in what they called "a neighborhood of one-family homes."

Commission rescinded, subject to the approval of the city attorney, a building permit issued Ben Smith, Sr., and asked that the citizens "get together with Smith and work out an agreement."

Commission postponed action on recommendations by the Board of Education that the city buy a lot on south McDonough Street and another in West Chester Hills for school sites.

An ordinance for the repaving of South McDonough Street was passed.

Commission authorized purchase of a lot on Herring Street for use as a playground addition to the Negro school.

3-HOUR DEBATE

Tiny House Puzzle for Hapeville

The fate of a tiny used paper storage house that Tuesday night involved the Hapeville City Council in almost three hours of fruitless parliamentary bickering may be decided Saturday.

Council voted to hold a special meeting at 2 p. m. Saturday to determine whether the North Avenue School PTA will be allowed to continue construction of the small building on school property after several efforts to dispose of the issue at the regular meeting failed.

Two residents of the area objected to the proposed building—it would be used to store paper collected at school paper sales—on grounds it would decrease the value of their property.

Council attempted to defer the controversial issue for further study, but proponents demanded immediate action.

Council, led by Mayor Rex Reeves, adjourned the meeting to make a personal inspection of the site, promising action within 30 minutes. After the inspection however, Council still sought to delay action and beat down two motions, one aimed at denying permission to continue building, and the other granting permission to do so. Both motions failed to obtain seconds.

After the lengthy discussion, the group voted to hear all interested persons at Saturday's special session.

Deadly Hurricane Heads For Mexican Oil Port

TAMPICO, Mexico, Aug. 21—(UP)—A deadly 130-mile-an-hour hurricane built up strength in the Gulf of Mexico and bore down Tuesday on this rich oil port 250 miles from the Texas border.

Weather forecasters said the center of the storm would hit here in mid-morning Wednesday. But Tampico officials expected the full fury of the hurricane to hit Tuesday night. The forerunner of the big storm—torrential rains and high winds—lashed this city of 90,000 throughout the day.

Homeowners battened down their houses and many residents sought shelter in churches and public buildings. The port, Mexico's largest and most modern, was closed and all craft, including a number of large tankers, remained in the harbor.

WARN OF FLOODS

The smaller oil ports of Tuxpan and Nautla south of Tampico also were expected to be hard hit. The government warned residents of the entire state of Vera Cruz against floods.

Winds of 130 miles an hour—55 miles above hurricane strength—extended 75 miles in front of the storm's center and gales blew as far as 250 miles to the north.

"Present indications are that the hurricane will move inland Wednesday forenoon near Tampico," the weather bureau in New Orleans reported at 11:30 p. m. EST. "Continued caution is advised all vessels in the southwest Gulf of Mexico. Squalls and heavy seas may extend to the lower Texas coast and small craft in that area should remain in port."

The 12:30 advisory said hurricane hunter planes located the center of the storm less than 240 miles east of Tampico. It was moving west and west northwest at about 12 miles an hour.

Tampico, which is within 100 miles of the four richest oil wells in Mexico, is located two miles from the gulf on the Panuco River. The eastern and most crowded section of the city is built only two or three feet above the river and is subject to floods during tropical storms.

Officials feared a "real disaster" if the river rises from Tuesday's torrential rains or a tidal wave precedes the hurricane.

DANGER IN OUTSKIRTS

They also feared loss of life might be great in outlying areas, where poor communications prevented the warning of natives living in flimsy bamboo and palm-thatched huts.

Weathermen at Brownsville Texas, said South Texas might suffer "fringe effects" of the big storm, but will miss the brunt of the hurricane.

But the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi took no chances by flying 22 planes inland to Waco.

Georgia Mute Admits Attack

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 21. (U.P.)—A "girl crazy" deaf mute confessed Tuesday that he shot a teen-age girl and slashed her sister with a knife because his affliction kept him from having dates.

Police said Parram Bunny Youngblood, 24, Toomsboro, Ga., admitted in a scribbled note that he trailed the two girls from a movie last night and attacked them as they approached their home.

Hospital attendants said Elizabeth Avery, 15, is in critical condition of a bullet wound in the abdomen. Her sister, Virginia, 17, was stabbed in the arm and shoulder.

Honor Rule Voted By Emory Student

John Haley, a student at Emory University, was one of 36 student body leaders who voted in favor of the controversial honor system at the fourth annual National Student Congress in Minneapolis, Minn. Fifteen students opposed the system.

Stressing the need for student enforcement, Haley said the honor system works "only if each individual co-operates in abiding by the honor code and enforcing it."

"At Emory," he said, "where the Honor Council is composed of students and where the faculty respects the system it is most effective."

ACCIDENT ROUNDUP

Box-car Beheads Transient; Suicide Reported Apparent

A 53-year-old fruitpacker was decapitated late Tuesday night by a switched-off car in the Central of Georgia freight yards, police reported.

Homicide Sgt. L. L. Hause identified the man as Floyd Pierce Van Sant, of Rt. 5, Atlanta and Ruskin, Fla. Detectives J. E. Helms and W. H. Holland said he was instantly killed when he "apparently lay down on the tracks with his neck across one with suicidal intent."

Identification bureau records showed Van Sant had been picked up by police in Georgia and Florida in connection with petty offenses.

The officers said a switching locomotive engineer did not see the man lying across the tracks when he loosed a freight car, but discovered the body on returning to pick up the boxcar.

Meanwhile, eight persons were injured in auto traffic Tuesday in the Atlanta area.

Miss Elizabeth Schulhofer, 19, of 1010 N. Virginia ave., N. E., suffered two fractures of the left leg in an accident at Sixth St. and Parkway Dr. N. E.

James H. Wallace, 20, and Freddie Grizzle, 22, both of Roswell, suffered body injuries in a wreck at Sandy Springs and the Roswell Rd. early Tuesday.

Twelve-year-old Robert Noel Trusty, of 769 Central Ave., S. W., received lacerations of the face in an auto crash at Orleans St. and Grant Ave., S. W.

Miss Betty Hustik, 17, of 974 Manigault St., S. W., was temporarily knocked unconscious and received severe abrasions of both knees when hit by a car at the intersection of Trinity Ave. and Spring St., S. W.

Little two-year-old Terry Nelson Latham, of 224 Warren St., N. E., received lacerations of both hands when he was accidentally pushed against a bus at the Greyhound Terminal.

Thomas H. Allison, 23, of 813 Confederate Ave., S. E., was hit by a car at the intersection of Piedmont Ave. and Harris St., N. E. and was treated for injuries to a leg.

Henry A. Martines, 40, of 148 Memorial Dr., S. E., received body injuries in an auto wreck at Spring and West Peachtree Pl., Northwest.

Some State Fire Rates To Be Cut

Fire insurance rates on apartment houses, multi-family dwellings, tenant-occupied one-family frame houses, and tourist courts will be cut 15 percent Sept. 1.

The reduction was ordered Tuesday by State Insurance Commissioner Zack Cravey. It was worked out by the Insurance Department and the Georgia Inspection and Rating Bureau.

Ice Cream Men Take Easier Rule

Ice cream vendors will abide by City Council's lighter regulation banning sound equipment after 9:30 p. m. and not their original self-regulatory rules setting a 9:30 p. m. curfew on vending operations.

Councilman James Jackson, executive vice president of the Georgia Dairy Association, said the original vendor-adopted rules were subsequently amended by Council to ban only sound equipment after 9:30 p. m.

Quake Rocks Hawaii, Stir Fear of Volcanos

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 21—(UP)—A series of violent earthquakes rocked the Hawaiian islands Tuesday, shook down 20 buildings and raised fears that the slumbering volcanoes of Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea would erupt.

At least two persons were injured in the quakes which tore up roads, toppled a gigantic quarter-mile section of rock cliff into the ocean along the famed Kona coast and cracked most of the water supply tanks in the area.

The first jolt hit the island at 12:57 a. m. Hawaiian Time (6:07 a. m. EDT), followed by other big shakes at 1:31 a. m. (7:31 a. m. EDT). Gordon A. MacDonald, Hawaii National Park Observatory volcanologist, said smaller shocks were felt for several hours later, but "I think that was the worst we'll get."

MacDonald said there was "no direct connection" between the quake and the big island's two dormant volcanos, but islanders recalled the two 13,000-foot peaks last erupted on June 1, 1950, after similar quakes.

The volcanologist said that pressure has been steadily building up under smoking Kilauea crater for the past several months, but he said the temblors Tuesday were not of the type which preceded the 1950 eruptions.

Hilo Police Chief Anthony Paul said most of the damage was centered around the tiny town of Hoonaunau and was estimated at $50,000.

Paul said Hawaii County Supervisor William Thompson and his wife were "slightly injured" by flying glass when their home at Kaimanalo partially collapsed while they slept. There were no other immediate reports of injuries, he said.

The police chief said that 14 stores and three homes were "partially damaged." One unoccupied school and two houses were "completely destroyed," he said.

Man Under $200 Bond In Newspaper Theft

Eugene Clayton, 30-year-old Negro of 13 Bell St., N. E., Tuesday was bound over to the Fulton criminal court under $200 bond for stealing an unknown number of The Constitution newspapers from a "throwoff" stack at the corner of Irwin and Hogue Sts., Southwest.

Ptl. M. C. Faulkner and J. L. Langley said the Negro admitted taking the papers from the stand.

Perhaps It's Wishful Thinking, But—

Some weeks ago our own Harold Martin, Georgia-born newspaperman, magazine writer and editor, came back from a long stay in Korea to say that in his opinion the Chinese Reds wanted out of Korea and that the peace talks were being delayed by the impassioned, arrogant, fanatic position of the North Koreans.

The Chinese peace commissioners, he said, were amiable men. The North Koreans had so long aped the Soviet commissars in manners and attitudes they were insolent and determined to carry their points.

He told how Korean children took candy given them by American soldiers and eagerly put it in their mouths, but that when a North Korean soldier appeared, those same children took the sweets and threw them at the Americans who had befriended them.

The North Koreans are fanatically indoctrinated and determined to rule all Korea. South Korea has no leaders. Its leadership was in exile during the Japanese rule. The North Koreans came from Communist-led underground movements and, later, from the Communist-trained armies. They were backed by well-trained troops—and their anger at being defeated by the United Nations is therefore the greater.

But the Chinese want a truce.

For some weeks now there have been reports that the Chinese Communists are slowly breaking with their Soviet allies. This does not mean they are the less communistic. Or that Marxism is losing out.

To quote Harold Martin again, the factors of revolution were long in the soil and air of China, and the Marxists simply picked them up and put them to work in a revolution. Many of the Chinese Communist soldiers, he said, had not even heard of Russia.

They had been told that the United States was out to follow the Japanese program—to take Korea and then Manchuria. Martin believes we can, if we try intelligently and patiently enough, win them away from the Soviets into our own orbit of influence.

At any rate, while the news of a break in Red ranks may be too optimistic, it is good. It is another bit of evidence supporting the belief the Chinese want out of Korea.

Let's hope it stands up. The North Koreans can't well go it alone.

May the 4-H Council Attain Its Goal

Of the many conventions held in Georgia—and we are a gregarious people, great at getting together—none is more important than the annual 4-H Club Council.

That youth group, delegates from the many 4-H Clubs over the state, is in session this week at Milledgeville. Today the attention of the delegates is not on plowing or piecework, but on politics. For the time has come to elect council officers and these boys and girls take their elections seriously.

Thus do they add important lessons in citizenship to the instruction they get back in their clubs in the methods of better farming and better homemaking.

The purpose of 4-H is not merely to develop skills in the mechanics of agriculture. The broader goal is better men and women, finer citizens of a democracy.

For the Georgia 4-H delegates and their adult advisers we wish a pleasant and a successful session at Milledgeville as, in keeping with the club's 1951 theme, they "work together for world understanding."

First Aid for Cotton Farmers

The Cotton South will be reassured by the promise of the Secretary of Agriculture, as given to a group of Southern senators headed by Georgia's Richard B. Russell, that export of cotton will be pushed to assist a declining price.

For many years American cotton was not competing in the world market as a free item. Now, by reason of the demand, the world price for cotton is in some instances above the domestic price. Georgia farmers will be gratified by the news that more of it will be exported.

There is a phase of this news which should not be neglected. The cotton growers need the help of the government. They have been assisted by controls before.

This entire business of controlling the vast economy of a large nation, in which the various regions have specific crops or commodities vital to them, is a complex and difficult one. It is made the more so by the fact each region considers its own problem the only one of prime importance. That's human nature.

For example, wool has the Western states in just as much of a fever as cotton has the South. And California has come along to be moved by cotton and citrus problems while the Northeast is excited over timber. Meanwhile, the Midwest is running a temperature about wheat and corn.

Anyhow, cotton appears in for some relief. We're glad.

Will the Mayor Have an Audience?

The progressive city of Thomaston is going to get down to the fundamentals of democracy on Thursday night. At an old-fashioned town meeting Mayor Frank Binford will speak on the affairs of the city as he sees them after four years in office.

In scheduling this session to talk the public's business, the mayor is responding to a suggestion from the Thomaston Junior Chamber of Commerce. After accepting the challenge, the mayor invited every citizen in the city to attend.

We'll be interested in hearing from this Thomaston town meeting. We think it is a fine idea and we congratulate Mayor Binford on being willing to stand up before his stockholders to make a report.

As the Thomaston Free Press points out, "The governmental agencies of this country are too close-mouthed about the things we should know and too verbose about things to which we attach no importance."

The success of the forum depends on how many of the stockholders are interested enough in their business to turn out to hear their mayor and to discuss with him the common problems of city administration.

Public discussion is the basis of good government where public opinion rules. Or to quote the Thomaston paper again, "An informed public will take more interest in public affairs and the more people we get interested in our government the better government we can have."

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

Musician, Not Clown

The Editors: Often people are nicer when you know them than they seem when you read about them in the papers. For a long time I laughed and enjoyed Ollie Reeves' never failing gushes of "A Rhyme a Day," in The Atlanta Constitution. But I thought the man was just a clown until I met and heard him speak at Blackhall Civic Club. Then I understood why he is poet laureate, State of Georgia.

Ollie Reeves' more serious poems are a magic carpet on which one may ride back through the early history of Georgia. He recaptures vanished moments and recreates scenes that have grown dim through passing years.

Poetry has nearly everything that music can give, and Ollie Reeves is a musician at heart also, for he can give with melody, rhythm and sentiment that comes from the heart.

East Point. EVERETT A. TRENT.

Observant Visitor

The Editors: Upon reading your paper Monday, I was appalled to read of 12 deaths from traffic accidents over the week-end.

I drove down here from Camden, N. J., to attend the ITU convention. My observation while driving here was that the people of North and South Carolina and Georgia usually drove "like a bat out of hell" so to speak The speed limit marked on the highways was in most cases too fast for the narrow two-lane highways, yet time after time these Georgia drivers would race by 65 to 70 miles an hour.

Where I live is adjacent to Philadelphia. We have thousands of cars each week end going to the New Jersey beaches; I drive to the seashore nearly every week end and I notice that the average driver is very careful now as the press and radio keep hammering away at the motorists to keep the highways safe. It seems to me that the motorists here could stand some of these safety hints.

This letter is not written in a prejudiced North-South vein, but as an observation of mine, backed up by your 12-deaths article.

WALTER GILL,
Camden Typo. Union 132.

Editor's Note—You are a good reporter, too, Mr. Gill.

Information Please

The Editors: From you we can expect to hear the real story behind the announcement of Jesse Walton being made manager of the Metropolitan Transit Company. The real news story of this perfunctory announcement missed the boat. Give us the details. CYNICAL.

Atlanta.

Editor's Note—The facts seem to be that Jesse Walton had lost support in his union and resigned. The suburban employes like him. He knows the transportation business. The company needed a superintendent. We couldn't find anything out of line.

North Shorted

The Editors: For the third time I turned back to the sports page to see if I saw what I thought I had seen. I had.

To double check, a tape measure was brought into use. Now why, for goodness sakes, were the South All-Star basketballers given twice the picture space of the North All-Stars and six paragraphs in the write-up? The North All-Stars came in for only one long, rambling sentence? Where is this Atlanta anyway or could I be mixed up on my geography?

Chatsworth. G. BRADLEY.

A Rhyme a Day

"Advanced education and employment outside of the home have fitted women to take prominent places as joint heads of the family."—Article quote.

There was a time, long ago . . . when papa ran the family show . . . he ruled it with an iron hand . . . and gave them all to understand . . . that anything he said was law . . . and he was held somewhat in awe.

His smallest orders were obeyed . . . for all the youngsters were afraid . . . they might stir up the old man's wrath . . . and he would lead them down the path . . . to where the Winter wood was stored . . . and give them lessons with a board.

He used to say it gave him pain . . . to have to punish us again . . . but applications of the wood . . . were necessary for our good . . . and though we didn't doubt his word . . . in later years the thought occurred . . . that, while it pained him quite a lot . . . he suffered in a different spot.

But all this was long, long ago . . . when papa ran the family show . . . while, in this modernistic age . . . he's just some scenery for the stage.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

States Which Loom As Battlegrounds

WASHINGTON—Connecticut and Wisconsin are shaping up as two of the most interesting battleground states in the coming fight over Senate control. It comes about because of the bitter feud that has arisen between Senator William Benton, Democrat of the former state, and Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, Republican of the latter.

Benton, of course, has introduced a resolution to have McCarthy expelled from the Senate. He bases it upon the Wisconsin senator's underhand skulduggery in the Maryland campaign last year, which saw Senator Millard Tydings go down to defeat, plus the many irresponsible charges McCarthy has made about Communist infiltration of the State Department.

This has provoked threats from McCarthy to get Benton in the next election. He has served notice of his intention to go into Connecticut and wage a personal campaign against Benton.

Benton, a two-fisted, hard-fighting business man, has been not at all intimidated by the threats. There is a suspicion, in fact, that he would welcome such a move. In the last election he won the race for an unexpired term by the narrow margin of only about 1,000 votes, and he may feel that he needs such an issue as McCarthyism to put him over by a bigger majority in 1952, when he must run again.

Nothing New Also it will not be a new experience for him to have McCarthy campaigning against him. The Wisconsin senator invaded Connecticut when Benton was up last time. The turnout for his several speeches was so light that he soon became discouraged and left the state. Republican leaders of the Nutmeg State contributed somewhat to this by denouncing the McCarthy intrusion.

Another thing that causes Senator Benton to feel confident is that if McCarthy should make an all-out assault on him in his home state, it would tend to force the issue of McCarthyism to the front as the foremost or dominant theme. On that question he has no doubt where Connecticut voters stand.

In any event, it would make for one of the most interesting senatorial campaigns in the country, a fight that would be sure to attract national attention.

But the McCarthy threats to invade the state of another senator have produced a quiet boomerang. As a result Democrats are talking of a program for putting former Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., in the race against McCarthy in Wisconsin next year. LaFollette was defeated by McCarthy in 1946. Hence the latter also comes up for re-election in '52.

Coalition The talk is of having the Democrats refrain from offering a senatorial candidate of their own and throwing their support behind LaFollette in the primary contest over the GOP nomination. LaFollette was only defeated by some 5,000 votes and still has a considerable following in the state. If some kind of a working arrangement could be worked out between the Republicans and Democrats as regards the Senate race, McCarthy undoubtedly would be slaughtered at the polls.

Democratic leaders seem determined to get rid of the mouthing Wisconsin senator one way or another, and if the Benton expulsion resolution fails then there is the LaFollette tieup to fall back on.

President Truman may have laid the groundwork for some move of the kind in the speech he made before the American Legion the other day denouncing McCarthy for his "scandalmongering."

The Wisconsin and Connecticut Senate contests may be prime political news when the next campaign gets underway.

MALCOLM FORBES

NAM—Better Off Dead

In Forbes, the Magazine of Business

The National Association of Manufacturers would greatly further the causes it believes in if the NAM itself ceased to exist.

The organization's latest bumptious bumbling was its blast at Charlie Wilson for his support of price controls. Now director of our defense mobilization, the former president of General Electric and his aide, Eric Johnston (four times president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce) were described by the NAM as "the prisoners of their subordinates, the bright slide rule and figure boys who get up the charts, interpret the statistics, write the speeches and feed them the data on which their thinking is based." Because they agree with many of the best business brains in the country on the need for temporary controls in the present crisis, and disagree with the small hierarchy determining NAM policies, these men have lost their power to think properly. They're now prisoners of the New Deal. What malarky!

Spokesman? Unfortunately a lot of people think NAM speaks for American business, that their policies and pronouncements reflect the opinions of most of management and the owners of business. Fortunately, in fact, they don't. Time and again able, foresighted business leaders have gone on NAM boards and committees with high hopes of broadening the association's perspective, but such attempts have thus far proven for the most part unsuccessful.

The NAM has done such an effective job that all it takes is their endorsement of a measure or a viewpoint to damn it in the eyes of legislators, large numbers of businessmen, and influential groups everywhere—and I'm not referring to the CIO or the professional left-wingers. As one who believes a national sales tax is necessary, I was discouraged at its prospects when the NAM came out in its favor. That'll make it tough to sell, no matter how logical.

It is harder to imagine a group rendering less service to the things it believes in than when the NAM gathers annually at the Waldorf-Astoria to pontificate on the issues of the day. The climax comes when an immense dais of white-tie-and-tailed executives is pictured throughout the nation's press looking down toward a ballroom filled with hundreds more in white-tie-and-tails, listening to speeches about "What This Country Needs."

'Hard-Heads' The association actually consists of hundreds of companies and executives with deep conviction and sound thinking as individual entities. But by the time their resolutions percolate into mass adoption the heavy hand of the so-called "hard-headed school" leaves them in the just-what-you'd-expect-from-reactionaries category. Maybe the fault lies with the "permanent secretariat" at headquarters, who must yes-sir some of the heavy dues-paying group that think the way to sell their viewpoint is to hit 'em again harder. If the national association would content itself with a useful job of fact-finding, if it had done what today the committee for economic development does, a real service of value to free enterprise advocates would be performed.

But today those who believe in free enterprise would be far better off if the NAM would jump into one of the holes it is constantly digging.

Copper Harbor, Here They Come!

Mrs. Nora Lawrence Smith of Ashburn, a lady who is known to speak her mind inside and outside her editorial office at The Wiregrass Farmer, has written us praising an editorial about U. S. Highway 41. "Miss" Nora is quick to defend "41" as the most advantageous avenue of north-south travel through Georgia. She admits that pointing up the holes in the road will in the end bring an improved highway, but she adds, "We do not like to be called a death trap, if we are." What this progressive and aggressive South Georgian had foremost in mind was getting in a plug for the U. S. 41 Association Motorcade. The 'cade will roll on Sept. 8 to spread good cheer, good will, good news about U. S. 41 from the palm-lined streets of Miami to pinestudded shores of low-temp Lake Superior, at Copper Harbor, Mich., northern terminus of the trail.

Jack J. Holst of Ft. Myers, Fla., president of the Highway 41 Association, will be in the van. My guess is that Yates Green of the Hotel Perry, B. Lloyd Woodall, the Barnesville pecan man, and possibly Nora Lawrence herself, will join the caravan en route.

Anyway, the Ashburn editor says, "Now you get a flag out and salute this motorcade when it comes through Atlanta."

I'll do that, "Miss" Nora. What's more I'd join up and go along except that the parade comes during the hay fever season. "Don't travel!" the allergists tell the afflicted. So I must stay out of the world's greatest ragweed belt and stick to that part of "41" which we commuters travel daily.

AN "L" OF A DIFFERENCE: A paragraph by G. M. B. in a recent issue of The Claxton Enterprise read: "The surgeon felt my pulse and decided the operation wouldn't be necessary."

Which sounded like a straight medical report until the owner of the initials explained last week. The line was handed in like this: "The surgeon felt my purse and decided the operation wouldn't be necessary."

A conscientious copyreader thought he had done the right thing.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Dies Champions Marshall Girls

NEW YORK—Martin Dies, who pioneered the fight against the Communist treachery and then suddenly dropped out of politics, has taken the case of the girls of Marshall, Texas, in their revolution against the social security tax on household help. Dies is now running for the nomination in 1952 to succeed Old Tom Connally in the Senate. The Marshall girls already have put the Treasury to terrible bother and considerable expense and have kicked up a favorable press. Nevertheless, the Treasury has momentarily put them behind the eight-ball by levying on their bank accounts for petty amounts. John Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury, realizes that Congress gave him an unenforceable law to administer so he didn't dare apply the criminal penalty but went after the money by attachment.

Then the Marshall girls got hold of Dies, and Martin, just getting hot in his campaign, hurried over to East Texas to see them.

Now Mr. Dies is going to file an application with Ellis Campbell Jr., of Dallas, collector of internal revenue for the district, demanding the return of the money. He will also demand public hearings which would give him a chance to sound off against the constitutionality of the social security tax on employers and the withholding process generally.

Campbell undoubtedly will refuse to give up the money and Dies then will go into the district court as the first step toward the Supreme Court. Campbell can deny a hearing on the application and just turn it down flat. After all, the Treasury realizes that this law is a turkey and Campbell knows that Dies will be making political medicine for his own candidacy. Naturally, as an administration man, the collector can't be expected to oblige Mr. Dies.

But it will not take Dies long to get the case into court and there he can swing out into space and use the honorable court for a political rally.

"We will charge that the Treasury has been guilty of embezzlement of all this money as trustee," Mr. Dies said, "because everybody knows there isn't a dollar in the social security fund because Roosevelt and Truman have just been squandering it as fast as it came in and then squandering the money they got by selling bonds to replace the money they had squandered already. We will show that they squandered millions on potatoes and eggs and passed this addition to the original act to cover the household and yard help so as to get some more money to embezzle.

"And, of course, we are going to show that this law tries to compel these women to perform clerical work as tax collectors against their will, which is involuntary servitude, and without pay. That is unconstitutional and they know it. They are scared to death of this case because the whole withholding process will come down in the crash. They are never going to ask for the criminal penalties.

"Half of the housewives of Texas are just ignoring the law. They just don't bother to make out any returns. Nobody is trying to do anything to them because the Treasury doesn't want to stir things up against the administration. Congress never did have any right to tell an employer, 'Look here, you got to buy some insurance for that workman over there and you have got to buy it from a particular company that the President is interested in.' Congress would have just as much right to say 'You have got to buy a brand-new automobile for that employe and you have got to buy it from a certain company.'

"We are going to subpoena the records of the collector's office and show that the law is practically a dead letter in Texas. They would have been glad to say nothing about the case of the ladies in Marshall but those ladies just wouldn't be still. They insisted on a test. Snyder tried to duck the test by confiscating their money."

Two Treasury agents recently spent a whole day serving 57 legal papers on two Marshall banks to seize petty amounts from each of 19 bank accounts.

One desperate revolutionist, Mrs. Janie Pitts (all these married women use their own first names to emphasize the feminine character of their uprising) was annoyed when it appeared that the Treasury had snubbed her. But she was mollified when it turned out that the agents couldn't find her bank account at first because it was carried in a bank at a liddy, biddy ol' town called Elysian Fields. They duly tagged Mizz Janie Pitts for $3.47 and she brightened up.

JOHN MARVIN RAST

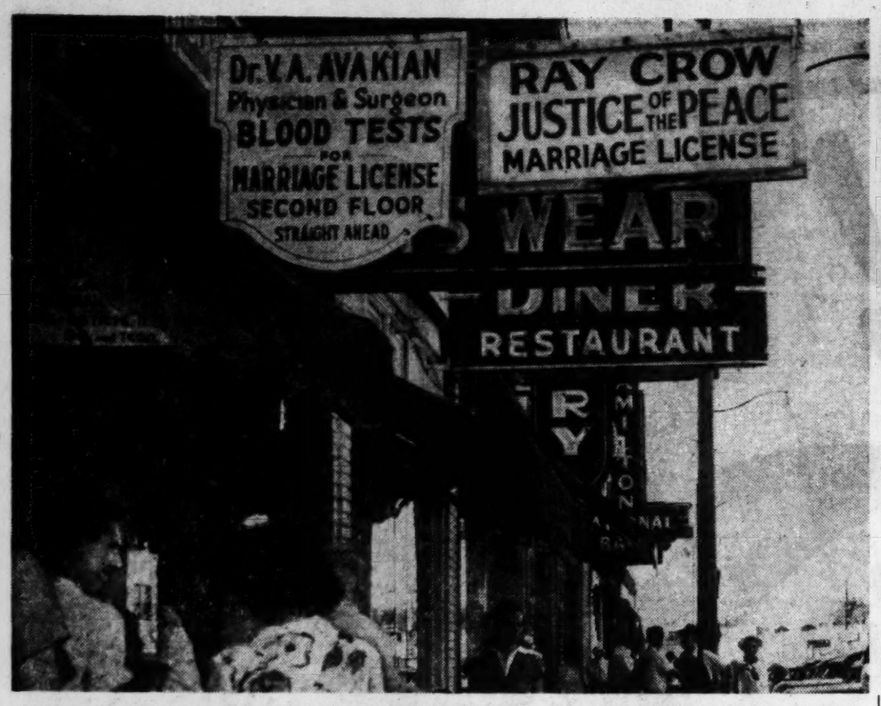

"Do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect."—(Romans 12:2).

A thoughtful leader of our times remarks that we hear much of the crisis economic and of all the crisis political, but little of the greatest crisis of all—the crisis in character in American life.

We need not try to sidestep the fact that our chief enemy is not outside our borders. It is the hold of secularism within, and the inroads made by that force as it batters continually at the foundations upon which our liberties are laid.

Strength and greatness are not divinely decreed to us. The only manifest destiny that we can rightfully claim is that of righteousness which alone can exalt a nation.

KEEP US, FATHER, IN the path of truth; of tolerance, purity of heart, constructive good will.

SAY YOUR "I DO'S" HERE—Matrimony is advertised along Rossville's main street along with shoes, shirts and food. Two of many signs directing bridal couples to a blood test laboratory, license bureau and justice of the peace are shown here. "NOT TOP INDUSTRY"
Mayor V. W. Bennett

'I-DO INDUSTRY' NOT ROSSVILLE'S BIGGEST

Hurry-Up Marriage Town Favors 3-Day Waiting Period, Mayor Says

By CELESTINE SIBLEY
Constitution Staff Writer

ROSSVILLE, Ga., Aug. 21—The picturesque little town of Rossville, snuggled up in the mountains between historic Chickamauga battlefield and the Tennessee state line, would not get its nose out of joint if the state of Georgia passed a three-day waiting period for marriage—but such a law would sure give the town's flamboyant "I-Do Industry" the running fits.

Lanky, sunburned V. W. Bennett, mayor of Rossville "off and on for 10 years," admits as much and he is joined in this opinion, he believes, by many of the town's business and civic leaders.

"Marriage is not one of our more profitable industries, no matter what you think," observed the mayor, grinning whimsically. "Some of our folks do pretty well at it, it's true. But we got two hosiery mills and a woolen mill that have bigger payrolls."

ALL DONE IN HALF HOUR

Rossville's other industries may have bigger payrolls but they probably haven't brighter signs or a better-functioning assembly line than the quick-marriage business which operates in this little border town. You can get off a bus on a corner in Rossville, walk a few yards and within half an hour get your blood test, your marriage license and promise away the rest of your life.

Neon signs advertise blood tests as if they were beer or high test gasoline. The only two justices of the peace in Walker County who have the power to issue marriage licenses operate within spitting distance of pokey Tennessee, where a waiting period is enforced. And cheek-by-jowl with these license-issuing-marriage-performing dignitaries are five of the state's 55 blood test laboratories. (Rossville has a population of 4,500. Atlanta with a population of more than half a million has only 15 such laboratories and most of them are in hospitals, according to the State Health Department.)

Rossville, on the Tennessee line, is actually blended with the town of Chattanooga. Only a small plaque between a jewelry store and a drug store and the torn-up paving, where the Georgia State Highway Department is replacing the main street, tell you when you are out of one state and in the other. Chattanooga city buses run regularly down Rossville Boulevard and disgorge couples who can make the next bus back to Chattanooga if they move fast. At night taxicabs don't even bother to charge a waiting fee for Chattanooga bridal couples in search of Rossville's package matrimony deal.

24-HOUR SERVICE

The five laboratories, supervised by doctors, and the two deputy ordinaries offer 24-hour service, although his townspeople say that "Squire" Ray Crow, former state representative, will not come back to the office late at night. He has in his place a staff preacher who can officiate in his absence.

The doctors, who recently complained to the State Health Department that one of their number was speeding up his blood tests beyond the time the test could be honestly made, are extremely reticent to discuss their business. Squire Crow, who said he had been an elected official for 32 years, refused to release figures on the number of licenses issued by his office or the number of marriages performed.

"I do my duty," he said. "I don't necessarily have those figures."

As a matter of fact, the number of marriages performed in Rossville or any other Georgia town can be known only to the county ordinary because, as state health officials pointed out, there is no central state office where those statistics are recorded. The other deputy ordinary who is appointed by the Walker County grand jury is former Mayor Herman Bowman, likewise reticent.

BIG WEEK-END RUSH

Although the figures were not made available by the ordinaries, Dr. T. F. Sellers of the State Health Department said a laboratory technician testified at the recent doctor's hearings that weekdays usually provided only six or eight blood tests but on week ends as many as 60 or 70 blood tests were run in a single day.

Dr. Sellers said that there are seven approved blood tests which could be used but the ones most commonly used are the Kahn test, which takes 55 minutes, and the Kline and V. D.-R. L. tests which take 25 minutes. Dr. V. A. Avakian, whose laboratory was approved for a Kahn test, was accused by his competitors of finishing a test within 20 minutes.

"You'll find this is just a squabble between doctors," Mayor Bennett said. "The folks in Rossville don't care about it either way. The doctors and the squires make the money and the rest of us just go on about as usual. The drug stores and the restaurants don't even stay open to accommodate the marriage business — and I doubt if our policemen even have any more to do. The taxicab drivers give out the information to all those who don't see the signs."

SQUIRES CORNER BUSINESS

An indication that the squires have the marriage business cornered at $3 a couple was given by the Rev. E. B. Shivers, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Rossville's biggest church.

"Last month was the heaviest month on marriages I've had in some time," he reported. "I performed four ceremonies."

Ministers are not asked to perform the great bulk of hurry-up ceremonies because many of them have taken a stand against night ceremonies and ask too many personal questions of the marrying couple.

"I personally favor a three-day waiting period," young Rev. Mr. Shivers said. "Marriage is a serious step and three days is not too long to wait, especially if that is the uniform period required border here did it. It was not a Rossville marriage."

You can stand outside the marriage mills and ask people who come to Rossville for a speedy take-off into matrimony why. The answer varies. One young couple, holding hands, explained shyly, "We're not ready to tell it yet. The Chattanooga papers print the marriage licenses every day. We don't want anybody to know."

An aging woman, leaning on the arm of a very young lad, smiled up into his face trustingly and said, "We didn't want his folks raising a ruckus. He's old enough but they'd give us trouble."

KNOW YOUR GEORGIA — by C. J. Holleran

Georgia's Most Despised Man

When Denis Cottineau of Savannah was commissioned as midshipman in the U. S. Navy, he was a proud young man. Too inexperienced to recognize the earmarks of those scoundrels who prey upon friendship for self-advancement, he accepted the comradeship of Midshipman Pierson, Savannahan and brother officer on the warship John Adams. Later Pierson gave offense that put him in Coventry with the other officers of the vessel. To be in Coventry meant official and social ostracism. It was intended to, and usually did, drive from the service anyone who encountered it. Since no officer considered the man a gentleman, his challenges to clear his name on a field of honor were rejected with contempt. The warmhearted Cottineau could not stand by and see the suffering of his false friend, so he suggested to Pierson that he challenge him to a duel. He would accept and that would break the Coventry. They met in Havana on April 3, 1819. The weapons were pistols. Cottineau deliberately missed. Pierson shot him through the heart! His dastardly attempt to restore himself to favor resulted in his being driven from the Navy. Strange as it seems, he came back to Savannah where he became Georgia's most despised man.

Reputation Of Atlanta Is Defended

No Gangster Rule, Say Fulton Solons

The Treasurer of the Talmadge-dominated State Democratic Party and two Fulton Representatives Tuesday defended the reputation of the City of Atlanta, after Gov. Talmadge had attacked Atlantans in a speech at Savannah.

The Governor had told rural Georgians that the general election of 1952—when they vote on a proposed county unit constitutional amendment—"may be our last chance to protect Georgia from a gangster-ridden city political machine operating from Atlanta."

CITIZENS OF ATLANTA

Top leadership in the Georgia Democratic Party, all friends of the Governor, are citizens of Atlanta. Henry Chandler, state leader of the Georgia Federation of Labor, is vice chairman of the state party. George Stewart, Atlanta lawyer and close friend of the Governor, is secretary of the state party. Cecil Hester, Atlanta banker, is treasurer of the party.

"I am not commenting on the Governor's speech," Hester said. "But I will say that Atlanta is a pretty clean city. I know nothing of any organized crime."

Both Reps. Hoke Smith and Luther Alverson predicted the proposed county unit amendment, similar to the one defeated by the people in 1950, will be beaten by the people in 1952.

Observing Talmadge's attempt to pit the rural people against Atlanta, Smith reported that it was "the big city boys" who passed the Talmadge-sponsored county unit proposal in the Legislature early this year. Solons from Chatham and Richmond counties—the only two counties with formally organized local political parties—voted for the amendment. The proposal passed in the House only after solons from Floyd County, another six-unit county, changed their votes. Smith said numerous rural counties voted against the proposal in the Legislature.

"I have yet to find any machine around here," Smith continued. "The only oiled machine I've found is the one that ramrods bills through the Legislature. As for Atlanta, I don't believe there is a government in the state as free from corruption as that of the City of Atlanta."

ALVERSON COMMENT

Rep. Alverson said he didn't think the people of Georgia fear the people of Atlanta as "gangsters." Many Atlantans came here from rural Georgia.

"Political gangsters?" asked Alverson puzzled. "Does anyone think that Sen. Everett Millican, Rep. Muggsy Smith, Rep. Hoke Smith, Mayor Hartsfield or I are political gangsters? Our integrity is open to the closest scrutiny."

Alverson said he didn't think the Governor holds any such fears from the people of Atlanta. He said he thought the Governor is beginning his fight early to get Georgia to approve the county unit amendment, and that Talmadge no doubt will wage a vigorous campaign. However, Alverson said the people of Georgia don't want to preserve the system as it is, "because they realize it is unfair."

In his talk, Talmadge said that Atlanta is relatively free from crime now, but that is because the county unit system hampers the development of a state political machine dominated by Atlanta gangsters.

Secretary Stewart, a citizen of the city under attack, said he had no comment to make on the Governor's speech.

Mayor Hartsfield, likewise, had no comment.

Rep. Muggsy Smith was ill and could not be reached for comment, and Sen. Millican was out of the city.

Harold Martin Writes About U. S. Marines

Harold Martin is writing about the service he loves—the United States Marines—in the newest issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

The story contains a Marine sergeant's eyewitness account of how 18 captured Leathernecks were bombarded for months with Communist propaganda and then released in no man's land.

Entitled "They Tried to Make Our Marines Love Stalin," the ex-Marine's article says the Chinese Reds mixed their Communist indoctrination with good treatment.

But the Marines "still are not persuaded that Wall Street started the Korean War, nor that the United States wants to conquer China, nor that Soviet Russia is the guardian of peace in the world," Martin concludes. They agree with their erstwhile captors that the people of the world do not hate and fear one another, and that it is the leaders who plan the wars in which the people fight, Martin writes, and the Marines would like to try to persuade the Chinese who those leaders really are."

Holohan Death Pictured Boon To Italy Reds

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—The murder of Maj. William V. Holohan made it possible for Communists to gain control of the northern Italian industrial area after the war and to continue control up to the present day, according to Michael Stern, magazine writer, who arrived at the New York international airport Idlewild Queens from Italy Tuesday.

Stern, who is credited with "breaking" the story of the OSS major's slaying in the Lake Orta region of Italy, said that after Holohan's death in 1944 600 tons of arms and ammunition dropped in Italy by the OSS fell into Communist hands.

The magazine writer declared that Maj. Holohan, who was in charge of the OSS Italian mission, never authorized arms dropped for Communists while he was alive, but after his death Lt. Aldo Icardi managed to get them to the Communists by using the ruse that the arms drops were for the various Italian splinter parties.

Saying that he did not know whether Lt. Icardi is a Communist, Stern declared "there are indications Icardi did it for money he got from the Communists."

The majority of the 600 tons of arms and ammunition dropped after Maj. Holohan's death has not been used, but is cashed in various parts of the Lake Orta section, according to Stern. He added that if we went to war with Russia, it was very likely the arms would come out of their hiding places to be used against us.

Stern contended, too, that he has sufficient evidence to have Lt. Icardi convicted in a United States court on charges of fraud. He alleged that Icardi made $16,000 illegally and reconverted OSS gold into currency in Italy. The writer said he had turned the evidence over to the central intelligence agency some time ago.

Arnall Has 20-Minute Conference With Truman at White House

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—Former Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia called at the White House Tuesday for a 20-minute conference with President Truman, but no one was able to learn what it was all about.

After his meeting with the President, Arnall went to the office of Donald Dawson, White House administrative assistant in charge of patronage matters. Newspapermen at the White House lost him in the shuffle and he escaped without the usual questioning. Some of them said he must have left by a side door, as he was not seen to leave the main exit.

Efforts to locate Arnall at leading Washington hotels were unsuccessful.

Shaded Snooze Fatal To Hot Mississippian

AMORY, Miss., Aug. 21—(AP)—The sun was hot Monday and there was no nearby shade. So Carl Eddings crawled under a big tractor at lunchtime for a quick snooze. He was crushed to death when the driver reported back and drove away.

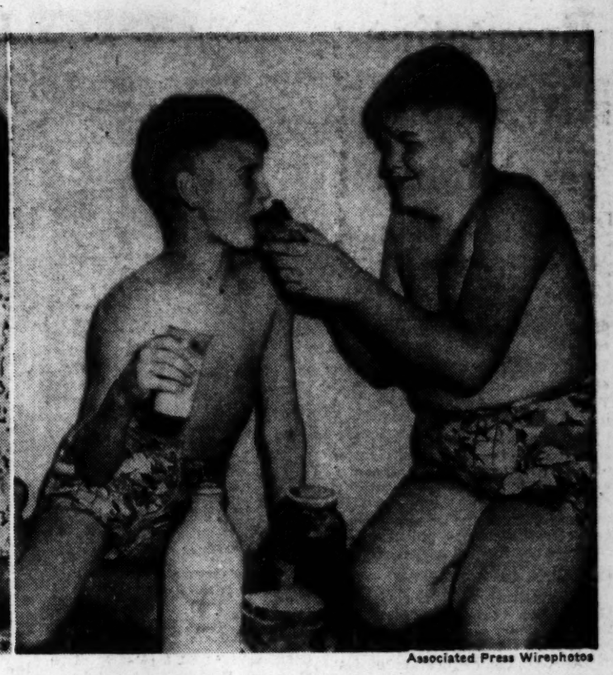

Police said Eddings, a 40-year-old pipeline worker from Center, Texas, was the father of five children. He was employed by the Williams Brothers-Davis Company. The firm is laying a gas pipeline from Kosciusko, Miss., to Florence, Ala.

Dead Three Minutes BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 21—Raymond Baldi, 62, is back at home after an operation in which his heart stopped beating for three minutes. A doctor removed organ, massaged it, revived patient. Baldi is shown with his daughter.

Air Winner DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 21—Miss Claire McMillen, right, Santa Ana, Calif., is shown here with co-pilot, Mrs. Frances Berea, Belflower, Calif., and fiance Michael Waters, after she won cross-country "powder puff derby." Flight was 48 hours in daylight only.

Swinging Romance ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Aug. 21—Margaret McFarland, 82, and Earl Smith, 67, on the porch swing, founo their budding romance aided by a nice swing, Florida's tropical climate. Resident guests of the Masonic Home, they will be married Sept. 2.

No Look Alikes IRVING, Texas, Aug. 21—Pat and Mike, 12, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Birmingham of Carthage, Texas, take cake for most unidentical twins. Mike, 166 pounds, shows brother, 96-pounder, type of jumbo sandwiches it takes to put on that kind of weight he has.

Magruder Ban in Georgia Laid to False Information

Georgia's banning of Magruder's "American Government" as a school textbook resulted from false information spread by a national group of public school enemies, McCall's Magazine says in its current issue.

The magazine reports that Georgia immediately banned the classic textbook after the Educational Reviewer—financed by a Washington lobbying organization—distorted and misquoted portions of it in a purported review.

McCall's says that Edna Lonigan, who wrote the review of "American Government," deleted in one instance a half-sentence from Magruder's text and thereby "proved to her satisfaction that Magruder was an advocate of the collectivist state."

CITES INCORRECT QUOTE

Miss Lonigan, McCall's reports, quoted the textbook as saying: "By democracy we mean the form of government in which the sovereign power is in the hands of the people collectively."

What Magruder actually wrote, the magazine points out, was: "By democracy we mean that form of government in which the sovereign power is in the hands of the people collectively, and is expressed by them either directly or indirectly through elected representatives."

Educational Review is edited by Lucille Carden Crain, who McCall's says has the equivalent of a high school education, is suspicious of most recognized educators who hold degrees, and against a "compulsory state-operated educational system."

MOVEMENT SCORED

Most of the article, written by Arthur D. Morse, is concerned with a national movement, led by Allen Zoll, that is fighting "progressive education" and is damaging school systems in Pasadena, Calif.; Englewood, N. J., and other cities. It identifies Zoll as former national commander of a group which the Attorney General's office lists as Fascist.

The State Board of Education overrode the Professional Textbook Committee and banned Magruder's "American Government" on the contention that it "played up World Government and played down the American form of government." It ordered the book taken away from Georgia children and instructed the State Department of Education to try to sell it in other states.

Greek, Turk Entry Paved In West Pact

By BENJAMIN WELLES
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, Aug. 21—The United States Government has won support of its North Atlantic Treaty Allies for inclusion of Greece and Turkey in the alliance as full treaty members, it was learned Tuesday.

Lingering opposition by certain countries, notably, Norway, Denmark and The Netherlands, who have feared that extension of the alliance might overtax its resources, seems to have been overcome. A formal invitation to the Greek and Turkish governments to join the Atlantic Pact is expected at the coming Atlantic Council meeting at Ottawa in mid-September.

If the expected invitation is extended Greece and Turkey will be able to take their places at the subsequent council meeting in Rome in late October and defense arrangements for the Mediterranean and Middle East regions can be accelerated.

In winning over European powers to an enlargement of the original 12-power grouping the United States has agreed to reaffirm publicly its support of Article Two of the treaty. This article emphasizes economic, social and political ties of the Atlantic community as distinct from its purely military aspect.

Booth's Car Acts Up; Presidential Echo

SUFFOLK, Va., Aug. 21—(AP)—Suffolk police reported the following crackup Tuesday:

A Lincoln automobile driven by John Wilkes Booth, III, was in collision with a car driven by John Adams. Adams was driving a Ford.

Hughes Leads In N. Y. Voting

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—(AP)—County Clerk R. Ford Hughes ran up impressive early leads Tuesday night in his Suffolk County Republican leadership battle with former Rep. W. Kingsland Macy.

Returns from a score of election districts scattered through the county gave Hughes pluralities of up to 12-to-1 in his bid for the Republican nomination to succeed himself in office.

There are 210 districts in the county.

Hughes is also battling to oust Macy as GOP county chairman, and success in the clerkship fight against a Macy man, E. Conway Plummer, would be an indication of how he may fare in the county committee.

The committee must meet within 20 days to choose its chairman.

The heated Macy-Hughes intra-party feud brought out voters in heavy numbers.

The Suffolk balloting highlighted an otherwise lackluster primary day throughout the state. Upstate there were only a few mayoralty candidacies to be decided.

Cyclist Hits Trolley; Wedding Postponed

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21—(AP). Walter J. Stedronsky, 28, ran his motorcycle into a street car Monday night, the second time in two months he has cracked up.

The street car was held up for half an hour. One of the passengers on the street car was a girl who plans to marry Stedronsky.

She said her marriage now has been postponed because of the motorcycle accidents involving Stedronsky. The girl asked that her name not be used.

In his latest mishap, Stedronsky received a skull fracture and other serious injuries.

SLAYING

rested in the slaying of a Negro at Fairburn, moved into a house near the Gabriel home early this year, Sutton related. He pointed out the Negro could have gone into the back yard where Mrs. Gabriel was busy hanging out wash without arousing the dogs.

A section of the death tie, the victim's red house shoes, slip, eyeglasses, a grimy wash rag and a wad of cleaning tissue which evidently was used as a gag were discovered buried under leaves in a stump hole near the house where Almond lived.

Discovery of the missing clothing virtually completed the assault-killing picture. Sutton said the victim's clothing was covered with coal dust and evidently was removed after her body was dumped behind a furnace in the basement.

TEETH MARKS

Several pieces of cleaning tissue wadded together bore teeth marks. The washcloth found with the missing clothing also was stained with coal dust where the attacker evidently wiped his hands.

Sutton said Mrs. Gabriel apparently was seized in the back yard as she hung out the wash, garroted with the red tie and gagged with cleaning tissue. He added she then evidently was carried into the basement and assaulted. The body then was dumped behind the furnace where it later was found by Gabriel and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Clemons. Clemons.

Medical examination revealed Mrs. Gabriel died from the garroting which ruptured the larynx. She also had several scratches about the neck, a slight abrasion on the forehead and both knees bruised. Investigators said physical evidence indicated she struggled violently with the attacker.

Friends and neighbors, meanwhile, mourned the death of the slightly-built grey-haired trained nurse who for years had worked without pay in her community.

Funeral services for Mrs. Gabriel will be held at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday at Spring Hill. Dr. Earl Fuller and Dr. Willard C. Cash will officiate. Burial will be in Westview Cemetery.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Gabriel is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fields Sr., of Columbia, Ala.; five brothers, E. B. Fields Jr., of Aruba, Dutch West Indies; W. R. Kemp, of Medina, Ohio; F. S. Fields, of Columbia, Ala., and William H. Fields, of Atlanta; and three sisters, Mrs. W. F. Oakley Jr., of Columbia, Ala.; Mrs. Katherine Brown Jr., of Charlotte, N. C., and Mrs. Edwin Lapeyrouse, of Port St. Joe, Fla.

Tom Thumb Gets the Thumb

What the American League needs is a new sense of humor. The old one is wearing pretty thin.

A midget walked up to home plate in St. Louis Sunday and had to show his credentials before he could go to bat for the Brownies. He's hardly off on a stunning new career before a bunch of owl-faced American Leaguers come out of a Chicago office Tuesday and say he's illegal. Suppose the cigarette industry should rule out midgets. What would Phillip Morris do?

As I see it, only two men alive possessed a moral right to protest the tomfoolery. One was Frank Saucier, for whom the midget pinch-batted, and the other was Bob Cain, the Detroit pitcher who tried vainly to locate his strike zone.

The midget performed a trick that has come hard to the Browns this season. He got on base. He became so heady at the artlessness required that he had requested an opportunity at steady employment. The Browns should use him when the bases are loaded, he said, throwing his 50 pounds around recklessly.

"They'd surely walk me. I'm good scoring insurance."

BISHER

Small one, Ed Gaedel by name, was hired by Bill Veeck to help the Browns attract some otherwise disinterested St. Louisians to help celebrate the American League's 50th birthday. There were circus animals and acrobats all over the joint, plus a baseline coach who wore a striped bathing suit, vintage '08. As Max Patkin, he once pitched in the minor leagues and traveled first-class with Cleveland, where Veeck kept him around for laughs a few years ago.

You would feel that any hooligan able to snatch 18,000 into the Sportsman Park gate to see the Browns play would draw vast acclaim around the league. Veeck's enterprise, however, was greeted with the cold a-hems that usually arise as a sweet young biddy arrives amongst a group of old hens.

The league had already prepared itself to view Veeck with censure. He brought the group to attention by scheduling a "grandstand managers' night," in which the fans will run the club. The theory is that several heads are better than one, Zack Taylor's in particular.

The Druggist Lost His Head

Stately Arthur Ehlers, of the Bernie Shively cut physically, roared a distinguished Quaker roar in Philadelphia. The general manager of the Athletics considered the idea pure rot.

I contest, on good grounds. I saw it done a few seasons ago, with variations, and the result was exceptional. By popular ballot, the fans in a nearby league nominated and elected a one-night manager for a Class B league team, at the time putting up no resistance to life in eighth place.

The elected manager, a druggist, put the professional manager to mental death. As he stood shifting from one foot to another in the embarrassing limelight of third base, the druggist's one-night charges roared through the game in one hour and 32 minutes, season's low for the team, and won, 2-1. The druggist was called upon for only one decision, and he sagaciously waved the first run home in the face of terrifying odds. The winning pitcher, incidentally, was Jim Pearce, who now slaves and loses with far less effort for Chattanooga.

Only trouble was, this manager, like the midget, began to take himself seriously. He showed up at Spring training in Florida the next season prepared to help the manager he shamed over the hump. Inexplicably, he always found the clubhouse door locked as he arrived in his wild anticipation at the team's camp. He soon unwillingly withdrew from the scene in which he had starred so majestically.

$600,000 Worth of Laughs

This fellow Veeck is no charlatan. He won a pennant with his humbuggery at Cleveland. Among his assortment there were a snake-fondling infielder who liked to take batting practice suspended from a crossbar by his feet; an expectant father who wouldn't come down from a lofty wigwam until the Indians locked up the flag; a nursery under the stands for the spectators' children; the aforementioned Max Patkin, and a 20-game winner who was to be fired after another year.

In this case, though, the ingenious Veeck had the foresight to come prepared with a ball club. When he left, he went well prepared with cash. He cleared $600,000 strictly on the purchase and sale of the franchise.

He violates his family heredity, for his father, William Veeck, Sr., specialized much more in pennants and much less in theatrics when he ran the Chicago Cubs. The elder Veeck was a critical sports writer lifted from a Chicago paper by chewing gum king William A. Wrigley to run the Cubs. He won three flags before his end came.

In lieu of midgets, he dealt in such giants as likker-drinking Hack Wilson, Pat Malone, Charley Root, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson and a cast of monumental idols. Young Bill came along as an usher at Wrigley Field, gracefully and in accredited manner worked his way up the ladder.

It's a question now of how far he can work the Browns up the ladder. The American League was willing to put up with his riots so long as he was on top. It's hard to contest the methods of a leader. In last place, though, Mr. Barnum Veeck has become exceedingly unfunny among his contemporaries.

The contemporaries are too busy making their own fun. They go into a meeting to elect a new commissioner and they come out with one piece of major legislation.

They bar midgets.

FROM NOW ON THERE'LL BE NO MORE MIDGETS ALLOWED

CHICAGO, Aug. 21—(AP)—The American League Tuesday banned playing midgets.

Will Harridge, league president, ruled that the St. Louis Browns could not use the three-foot, seven-inch Eddie Gaedel in future games. The 50-pound mite was inserted into the Browns' lineup as a "pinch hitter" against the Detroit Tigers at St. Louis last Sunday.

Harridge did not approve Gaedel's contract for the best interests of baseball.

Feller Blanks Nats For 20th Victory

Six-Hitter Makes Bob Sixth To Achieve Six Such Seasons

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21—(AP)—Bob Feller won his 20th of the season for the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night, dumping the Washington Nationals to their 10th straight defeat, a 6-0 shutout.

Feller gave only six hits and held the upper hand all the way as he rejoined the select 20-game winners after an absence of three seasons. It was the sixth time in his 13 campaigns with Cleveland that he had won 20 or more—a feat passed by only five other hurlers in American League history; Cy Young, Walter Johnson, Lefty Grove, Wes Ferrell and Eddie Planks.

So far this season no other major league chucker has won more than 17.

The shutout was Feller's third this year. He has lost five.

In the third, Larry Doby started a rally with a long single to right, extending his string of games in which he has hit safely to 21.

Doby homered in the seventh, his 19th.

Cubs Sign Cavarretta For 1952

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21—(AP). Phil Cavarretta, praised by the Chicago Cubs high command as "a natural born leader," signed Tuesday to manage the team in 1952.

The 35-year-old outfielder-first baseman had proved to the Cubs management in one short month that their "snap judgment" selection of Cavarretta was no fluke.

On July 21, and also in Philadelphia, Frank Frisch stepped out as manager of the Cubs.

Wid C. Matthews, director of player personnel, said "that was at 5:30 and we had to have a manager for the next day. So we called Phil and asked him if he'd take over for the rest of the season."

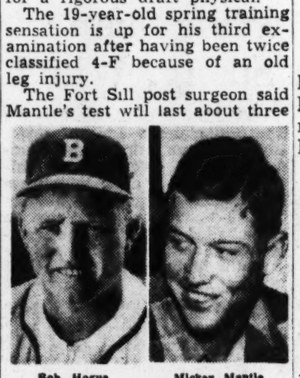

"He has proved to our satisfaction," Matthews said, "that he is a first-rate manager. He has done a swell job since he took over."

Mantle Gets Two Calls--- Yanks, Army

FORT SILL, Okla., Aug. 21—(INS)—Rookie Mickey Mantle, whom the New York Yankees have recalled for their pennant drive, arrived at Fort Sill Tuesday for a rigorous draft physical.

The 19-year-old spring training sensation is up for his third examination after having been twice classified 4-F because of an old leg injury.

The Fort Sill post surgeon said Mantle's test will last about three days and until that time his "evaluation" will not be known.

Bob Hogue Mickey Mantle

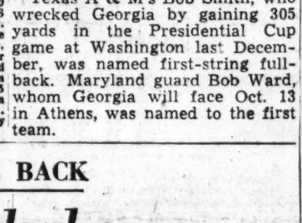

The hard-hitting outfield was recalled last night from Kansas City, a Yankee farm team in the American Association. While in the minors the Oklahoma skyrocket has collected 60 hits, including 11 homers, nine doubles, three triples and has batted in 50 runs in 50 games.

Bob Hogue, righthanded relief pitcher, was brought up along with Mantle in return for pitcher Bob Wiesler and outfielder Bob Cerv.

Maddox Low At Capital City

John Maddox shot a one-over par 72 to take medalist honors in Capital City Country Club's annual junior club championship Tuesday.

John won by four strokes over Phil Osborne. Morris Copeland, of Griffin, and Forrest Fowler, Jr., tied for third with 77.

Mag Picks Campbell On 2d Team

Marion Campbell, University of Georgia's 230-pound senior tackle, has been named to another preseason All-America team.

Latest issue of Sport Magazine, in a "preview" written by ABC sportscaster Harry Wismer, chooses Campbell as a tackle on the second All-America team. He previously was picked for first-string All-America by "Football—1951," a magazine edited by Stanley Woodward, former New York Herald-Tribune sports editor.

Texas A & M's Bob Smith, who wrecked Georgia by gaining 305 yards in the Presidential Cup game at Washington last December, was named first-string fullback. Maryland guard Bob Ward, whom Georgia will face Oct. 13 in Athens, was named to the first team.

HOME RUN SPREE

Giants Rally, Win 10th Straight Game

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—(AP)—The red-hot New York Giants got the game-tieing and game-winning home runs with two out in the eighth inning Tuesday and went on to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 7-4, and stretch their winning streak to 10 straight games. The winning streak is the longest for the Giants since Leo Durocher became manager.

Coming from behind for the second straight game, the Giants exploded for three home runs in the eighth inning with Wes Westrum capping the rally with a three-run wallop into the upper left field stands. The blow came after Whitey Lockman had tied the game by lofting a circuit drive against the face of the upper right field stands with Monte Irvin on base.

White Sox Unload on A's, 13-5

CHICAGO, Aug. 21—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox Tuesday night opened their fourth and final home stand against the East by defeating the Philadelphia Athletics, 13-5, before 16,748 persons.

The White Sox raced to an early 8-0 lead with four-run spurts in the first and second innings. Luis Aloma, who replaced starter Saul Rogovin during Philadelphia's three-run fourth, received credit for his fifth straight victory as Bobby Shantz, the Athletics' little lefty, suffered his ninth defeat.

Berra's Bludgeon Whips Tigers, 11-4

DETROIT, Aug. 21—(AP)—Squat Yogi Berra blasted his third homer in three games to start the New York Yankees off to an 11-4 whipping of the Detroit Tigers Tuesday night. The victory kept the Yankees one game back of the league-leading Cleveland Indians, who also won.

Gene Woodling's two doubles and two singles smashed in four more runs and Johnny Mize's homer blasted in two runs as Rookie Art Schallock pitched his first complete game.

Starter Teddy Gray, who was plastered for three runs in the second inning and for two of the Yankees' five runs in the fourth inning, was the loser.

Berra blasted his 21st home run to lead off the second inning.

SEPTEMBER NAMING SEEN

Owners Cut Czar Candidates to Five

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—(AP)—Major League club owners whittled the list of candidates for commissioner of baseball to five Tuesday and said they hoped to pick their man at a joint meeting in Chicago Sept. 20.

"Every one of the five men has told us he is available," said Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees and chairman of the group of owners who met in an all-day screening session at the Waldorf Astoria.

Asked if he expected a successor to A. B. (Happy) Chandler to be named at the Chicago meeting, Webb, spokesman for club owners, said: "That's our purpose."

He said the executive council was sending out notices Tuesday night to all club owners to be represented at the meeting.

A joint meeting, requiring a 30-day notice, is necessary for formal action on a new commissioner.

"This should be it," Webb added. "Our other meetings have been exploratory strictly. This one should get the job done—at least, we all hope so."

Lou Perini of the Boston Braves said some of the candidates in the original list of 11 eliminated themselves.

Gens. Dwight Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur are believed among those who asked that they not be considered. Former Postmaster General Jim Farley and George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, are also out of the picture, according to information received by the Associated Press.

In the original list and thought to be still in the running are Ford Frick, president of the National League; Gen. Clifton B. Cates, Marine Corps commandant; Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, commander of the Air Force; Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former superintendent of West Point.

Ex-Tide Grid Ace Lary Defeats Crackers, 5-2

Atlanta Leaves Sulphur Dell With Usual Series Deficit

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Writer.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 21—By now the Atlanta Crackers are accustomed to being humiliated in Sulphur Dell, but the Vols added a new wrinkle Tuesday night.

Al Lary, the former Alabama football star, started the second game of his professional baseball career and stymied Atlanta on six hits.

The 21-year-old righthander, tossing his first complete game, deserved a shutout, but had to settle for a 5-2 triumph as the Vols ushered Atlanta out of the Dell with a 3-1 series edge.

Thus, the Crackers completed their season's work in the bandbox park with a 4-7 record, and a total of seven victories over a three-year span. Overall, Nashville holds a 12-10 advantage for this campaign.

The setback shoved Atlanta two and a half lengths behind the fifth-place Vols and five games off the first division.

Consequently, there's little left for Atlanta fans to look forward to except 1952. The Crackers, returning home to open a stand against Chattanooga Wednesday night, can make their vacation plans after Sept. 9, final day of the regular season.

Dixie Walker's crew seemed doomed to their 10th whitewashing Tuesday night, until Buster Boguskie gave Jack Dittmer life on an error. Ed Mathews followed with a booming double, and Dittmer lingered on third until Hank Ertman grounded out. Mathews moved to third and crossed on Roy Jarvis' long fly to left.

The Ladies Night turnout of 2,144 booed lustily as Manager Don Osborn conferred with Lary. They remembered the Atlanta comeback Monday. But their suspense was short, for after walking Buddy Hicks, Lary whiffed pinch-hitter Al Aucoin for the final out.

Joe Reardon, first of three hurlers in the nightly pitching parade, picked up the tab for his 11th defeat against eight wins.

Ed Mathews' wild throw to first after Reardon signed two passes sent Nashville out front, 1-0, in the third.

Joe was jarred for two runs in the fifth, when the Vols landed four straight blows. Boguskie ignited the spurt with a double and Bob Ludwig, Bama Ray and Babe Barna followed with singles.

Lary enjoyed a five-run pad after the sixth when the Vols added two more scores and disposed of Reardon, Joe Damato's single, sandwiched by a pair of walks, an RBI fly by Boguskie and Ludwig's single supplied the punch.

Andy Elko rescued Joe, worked a scoreless seventh, and Don Liddle whiffed two in his eighth-inning stint.

Cracker Coach Whit Wyatt was ejected for the fourth time this season in the fourth by Umpire Red McCutcheon. Wyatt put up a hot and legitimate squawk over Red's decision on Jack Dittmer at first. Chuck Tanner had scored on the play, but Red ruled Dittmer didn't beat Ludwig's throw, so the side and Wyatt were retired.

In posting his second win, Lary fanned five, walked four and displayed the smooth poise of a veteran. It looks as though Larry Gilbert hit the jackpot, when he landed the young man who set an SEC football record by snagging nine touchdown passes for Alabama last season.

Tanner, extending his hitting streak to 19 games, accounted for half of Atlanta's hits, while Barna struck three of the Vols' nine safeties. One of the Babe's singles was off the boards, another against the screen in right.

The Crackers were guilty of misconduct on the bases again, with Tanner being doubled off first in the first, and Hicks getting tossed out at second after Reardon fanned in the third.

Howard Anderson (9-9) has the nod from Walker for the opener with the Lookouts Wednesday night at Ponce de Leon.

Phils Snap String, Win 2

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21—(AP). The Philadelphia Phillies broke an eight-game losing streak Tuesday night by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 4-1, after winning a 3-2 suspended game in 12 innings. The 3-2 victory completed a game halted July 22 by the Pennsylvania Sunday curfew law in the seventh inning with the Cubs leading 1-0.

'SHAME,' SAYS DOROTHY

Kirby, Faulk Meet In National Play

By DOROTHY KIRBY
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

TOWN AND COUNTRY CLUB, ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 21—One of the Georgia entries in the National Women's Amateur fell by the wayside Tuesday in Athens' Eileen Stulb.

Eileen played Pat Lesser, a coming golfer. Eileen shot a 40 on the front nine to Pat's 38 and Eileen was one down. They halved 10. Pat won the par-three 11th with a three to go two up and she picked up another hole with a par at the 14th to go three up. Eileen won the 15th with a par and lost the 16th to a birdie four and it was Lesser's match by 3 and 2.

Dorothy Kirby

Eileen said Pat was just putting too good for her, knocking in those that break your back.

Mary Lena Faulky of Thomasville, got by as was expected. She beat Mrs. George MacGibbon by 7 and 6. Mary Lena had no trouble with her opponent from start to finish. She hit the turn with a 7-up lead and held on to close the match out at the 12th.

Mary Lena has a straw hat that she likes to play in, but her mother objects to it. During the Western Amateur and the Canadian she didn't wear it.

However, after qualifying when things didn't go too well, out comes the hat. And you can bet she had it on Tuesday and will keep it on.

Wednesday Mary Lena and I meet in the second round. It seems a shame that we had to come up here to play each other.

I won from Pat Devany by 3 and 2. We had a tight match all the way. We were both out in 38's and were all even. I was one down coming to the 9th and sank a putt for a birdie to square things.

We both hacked the 10th something awful and halved it in sixes. I took the 11th with a par to take a one-up lead. We squared the 12th. I won the 13th with a birdie, halved the 14th, won the 15th to be three up and three to go and we squared the 16th for the match.

I was ready to call a halt by that time.

There will be two matches played Wednesday so it will be a hard day all the way around. Mary Lena and I will tee off at 9:30 a. m.

Thompson Holds Peach Bowl Lead

The stock car racing season at the Peach Bowl Speedway is two-thirds completed and Roscoe Thompson, Atlanta, is still leading point-winners.

The 1951 champion will be crowned the last Wednesday in September when the track closes for the season. Wednesday night's program consists of four sportsmen's events, including the 25-lap feature, and an amateur race. First race starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Fecht Stuns Lenczyk, 6-5, In National

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 21—(AP). A tall, pretty refugee from an Ice Follies skating line Tuesday whomped the meet's 1948 champion and tossed a resounding upset into the first round of the 51st Women's National Amateur golf tourney.

Gloria Fecht exploded a 6 and 5 victory over Grace Lenczyk, Newington, Ky. Miss Fecht did not yield a single hole to Miss Lenczyk.

Carol Diringer, Tiffon, Ohio, and Barbara Romack, Sacramento, Calif., headed the favorites into Wednesday's second 18-hole round. Miss Diringer defeated Mary Agnes Wall, Menominee, Mich., 5 and 4. Miss Romack had tougher going against Mrs. Harold Stone, Greenville, S. C., before winning 3 and 2.

Mrs. Julius A. Page, Greensboro, N. C., who won in 1937, defeated Bee McWane, Birmingham, Ala., 5 and 4.

Helen Sigel, Philadelphia, and Pat O'Sullivan, Orange, Conn., advanced to a second-round class. Miss Sigel got past Betty Rowland, Lexington, Ky., 2 and 1, while Miss O'Sullivan trimmed Mrs. David Stamps, Richmond, Calif., 7 and 6.

Braves Rap Pirates, 3-1

BOSTON, Aug. 21—(AP)—Boston's Braves scored twice in the opening inning on a timely single by Sid Gordon Tuesday night and those were all the runs they needed as they rapped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1, before a small gathering of 3,289 fans. Jim Wilson pitched an eight-hitter in evening his season's records at four victories and four defeats.

Jacksonville Snows Under Gate City

By MARION GAINES
Constitution Sports Writer

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Aug. 21. Jacksonville's Generals jumped into the favorite's position in the Region 5 American Legion Baseball Tournament Tuesday by blasting Georgia champion Gate City, 15-0, in the second round play.

Ralph Hooks' Cardinals will play Birmingham, Ala., which eliminated Cowpens, S. C., 5-2, in an afternoon game, at 8:15 Wednesday night at Duncan Park with the loser being ousted from the meet.

Florida's Max Toole scattered six Gate City safeties in blanking the Atlantans. He was never in serious trouble with only two Redbirds getting as far as third. Long fanned 13 Georgians and walked five.

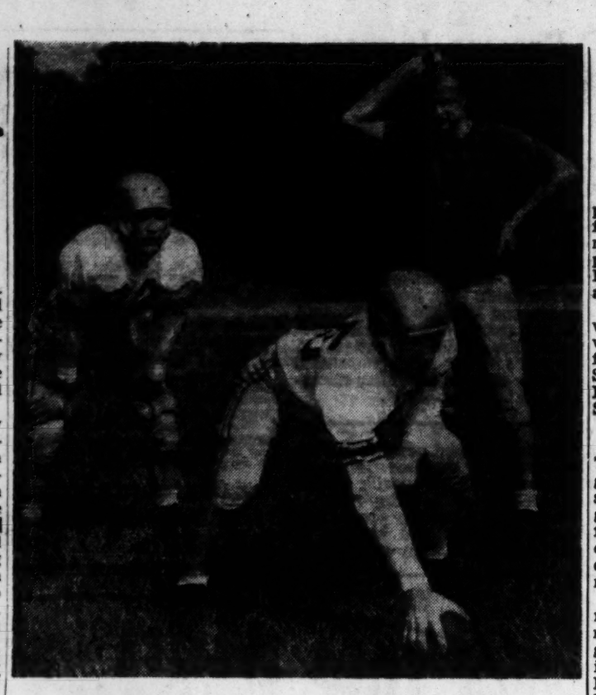

Willie Downing's Generals raked Chris Sanson, Tommy McHaney and Earl Hales for 13 safeties. Coupled with nine Cardinal errors, the Jacksonville boys romped home.

Jimmy Nisewonger and Layne Akers collected two hits apiece to pace the Cards. Jacksonville's Billy Summerlin was the winners' big gun, getting four bingles. Gene Davis, Francis Brown and Hurler Long chipped in with two hits each.

HERE WE GO TO A RODEO

* *

By EDWIN POPE

Fishing snaps its Summer doldrum for at least a day this week. Every kid with hook and line goes Saturday to Piedmont Park for the fourth annual Walco Fishing Rodeo.

Pope

The shindig's marked by a miracle: bass. Tuesday they poured a bunch of huskies into Piedmont for the 8 a. m. start. Fishing ends at 3 Saturday, when the juniors take over for casting. This gives Gary McCauley, the Tri-Clopped 13-year-old marvel, his biggest 1951 chance to show his wares locally. It passed almost unnoticed that young McCauley outscored national pro trick-casting champ Don Allen at the Southeastern meet at Wetumpka, Fla.

Sunday, at 1 p. m., men and women take over the casting contesting.

LEFT-OVER SPRAY FROM A VACATION: It's nice to haul in five different varieties (whiting, black, trout, toad and cat) of fish in less than an hour in the brackish tidewaters inland from Charleston, but where do they get that smell? . . . and the Oconee's pleasant down 'twixt Athens and Greensboro, but what do you do with an eel if you're not a Ross Allen or Raymond Ditmars. . . . And the people (when they come by) are nice at Allatoona, but where are they hiding the fish?

* * *

That was ours; others had better. Skeeter Rigsby, the barrellish jester who put this type in here, strung eight ham-handed size bream near Valdosta and at the same time took a jolt. The host said there wasn't any use taking along minnows because the bass were too hot to move. "There I was, dangling a worm," regretted Rigsby, "and the bass were wallowing like cows."

* * *

Sign of Better Times: Six-bass catch sighted at Nottely Reservoir, weighing in at 31 pounds. . . . And when you plan your Fall fishing itinerary, mark Chatuge. It may be the best cool-clime lake around. . . . Quip That Hurts: "No use casting up there, dear. They're too lazy to climb trees."

WHO-EVER-SAID-IT-BETTER DEPT.: "If you could buy game wardens for what the State of Georgia pays them and sell them for what the best ones are worth, you would soon be able to retire with a fortune. On the other hand, if you think the state is going to get efficient wardens for the $140 a month it pays them, you probably are one of the respected citizens who keep their salaries at such ridiculously low figures."—Bob Hunter, Moultrie Observer.

QUALITY NOT QUANTITY

East Point Defends Title With 13 Men

Brick Davis and his East Point Motors nine will depend upon quality rather than quantity in defending their 1950 Atlanta Amateur Baseball Federation championship.

Most of the 32 teams in the tournament which starts Saturday are having difficulty whittling their rosters down to the maximum allowed, 18. Not so the East Pointers. Manager James Towns will take to the wars with only 13 men—hoping they are not unlucky 13 men.

East Point, just Tuesday returned from the ill-fated—for the Atlanta athletes—Havalanta games, will defend their crown with 12 of those who made the Havana trip plus Chub Jenkins, Southwest High coach who wallops the long ball and plays first base. George Najour, who replaced Chub on the junket to Cuba, is not eligible for the tourney.

Towns has a crack unit but is shy of pitching depth. He has two top-flight righthanders in Paul Brock and Carl Dogne, both battle-scarred veterans of many wars. Lou Mostow, the pesky Emil Mailho-type outfielder, can serve them up southpay style if needed, and Towns has done some twirling. That's it (period).

Billy Grier, peppery Whittier Mills catcher, may be added to aid Jack Tiller with mitt-mask duties. Ray Melton, star of many years, will be back on third; Towns, an old pro who bats 'em left, on short and Ed Hayes on second.

Warren Moody, sensation of last year's tourney, Mostow, Al Kendrick, Stan Bishop and M. G. Parker will be available for outfield duty. Jim Patton, Decatur baseball coach, is on the roster and may do some infielding.

Pairings will be made at Reeder & McGaughey Sporting Goods Store, 52 Broad St., N. W., at a 7 p. m. meeting Wednesday.

GOLF ROUNDUP

'Prof' Lavin Graduates Girl Class

By BERT PRATHER

Professor Paul Lavin of Adams Park Golf Club will hold final exams for his class of girl golfers Wednesday morning by staging a nine-hole medal play tournament.

Paul has put up prizes for the various winners. There is no entry fee, it is strictly a Lavin party for the youngsters. Kay Barnes and Carolyn Langston are rated as the girls to beat, according to the Ole Professor.

Charles Harrison and Richard Waters, two of East Lake's top young golfers, crashed into the semifinals of the Club Championship last Saturday with victories over A. P. Wells and Pete Barnes and will meet head-on this Saturday for the right to contest for the title. Harrison toppled Wells, 7 and 5, thanks to a fine three-under-par 68, while Waters whipped veteran Pete Barnes, 6 and 5.

In the lower half of the draw, Jack Hoerner decisioned J. E. Borches, 4 and 3, and Herb Maffett, the old Georgia footballer, turned back Dr. Pierce Harris, last year's runner-up for the crown. Watts Gunn, the defending champion, had to default in an earlier round.

Atlanta Women's Golf Association came up with a new one Tuesday. The low 12 holes on the card constituted a winner in the Association's regular play day program at Druid Hills. Mrs. L. L. Rogers, with 42, was the low 12 winner in first division. Second division went to Mrs. Joe Schnell with 38, while division three was taken by Mrs. W. E. Hogue with a 40.

Low net winners were: Mrs. Charlie Miller, 71; Mrs. Alex Wilson and Mrs. Sara Flowers tied for second division with 72, while third - division champ was Mrs. Helene Cotsakis with 72. The ladies visit Ansley Park Club next Tuesday.

Ex-Cadets Thank Benefactor

Condensed From Wire Reports

Three former Army football players among the 90 dismissed for "cribbing" thanked the anonymous benefactor who offered to pay their way through Notre Dame Tuesday, but none jumped at the chance.

The three, who said they wanted more time to think it over, were Gene Gribble, backfield man from New Castle, Pa.; Philip Shockey, tackle from Mt. Lebanon, Pa., and Elmer Stout, center of South River, N. J.

A federal salary stabilizer said Tuesday that he favors letting organized baseball decide what its stars are worth. There were suggestions, however, that any such free hand be coupled with a limit on baseball salaries—but on an overall league basis rather than man by man.

"We are dealing with a very responsible industry," Dr. Raymond B. Allen told a three-man government wage panel looking into professional sport salaries. He said he was against anyone in Washington setting salaries on a player-by-player basis. "We're not that smart," he said.

Lee MacPhail, director of the New York Yankee farm system, says there is nothing to the report as far as he knows that the Yankees contemplate buying the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League.

Prospects are for 65,000 fans to be in the Cotton Bowl in sweltering heat Friday night for a National Football League exhibition game. The game matches two of the Southwest's all-time greats—Doak Walker and Kyle Rote—both former SMU players. Rote is with the New York Giants, Walker the Detroit Lions.

Sugar Ray Robinson has designated Sept. 12, as the day he will seek to regain his world middleweight crown from England's Randy Turpin as "get even day." Robinson, who will meet the invader in Yankee Stadium, said he will box every day starting Thursday as he drills for the bout and seeks to lose considerable weight. He now is at 162, most he ever weighed.

MONTREAL, Aug. 21 — (AP) — Rain late Monday forced postponement of the middleweight fight between Laurent Dauthuille of France and Eugene Hairston, New York deaf-mute. The bout will be staged in the baseball stadium here Tuesday night.

Broome Inquest To Await Parents

Completion of a coroner's inquest into the death of 13-year-old Robert Broome, who was found dead Sunday in the bathroom of his home at 96 West Wesley Rd., N. W., has been postponed until his parents return from attending his funeral services held Tuesday in Jacksonville, Fla.

Robert, an eighth-grade student at Northside High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Stockton Broome, Jr., apparently hanged himself accidentally, police reported. A coroner's jury was impaneled Monday and recessed after releasing the body for burial.

You can't blame the lady of the house for wanting to change from coal to clean automatic heating with a MONCRIEF gas furnace. The old fashioned coal furnace is unfair to all house cleaners because it pours in the house daily dust and dirt which must be removed. The change from coal to gas is a step which makes house cleaning easier, for a MONCRIEF gas furnace gives continuous air filtering all winter long. Curtains, drapes and walls stay clean for a long, long time.

Enjoy automatic heating at its best with a factory installed MONCRIEF furnace. It's cleaner, more satisfactory and most economical to operate. Replace your coal furnace now.

Atlanta Opticians Offer Glasses They Couldn't Make Better If They Charged $18, For $8.50

ATLANTA, Ga. — (Special)—Everyone who wears or needs glasses should be interested in the sensational offer made by a firm of Atlanta opticians. They offer glasses they couldn't make better if they charged $18.00 for, at the one price of $8.50. If bifocals are needed, there is an additional charge of $3.00. You can't pay more. There are 30 modern styles and shapes to choose from. Lenses are ground to your exact needs, with frames of your choice at one price—the same price to all. The reason the price is so low is because this firm manufactures its own glasses. The big saving is passed on to the customer. The manufacturers, King Optical Co., Suite 323 Volunteer Bldg., 66 Luckie St., Broad and Luckie Sts., phone ALpine 3125, offer $1,000 reward to anyone who is charged more than the above mentioned price. No appointment is needed. Your prescription promptly filled. Open daily 8 a. m. to 5 P. M., including Saturdays.

This Man KNOWS HOW to Grow Hair

Q. How does he grow hair?

A. With The Thomas' 31-year proved method—based on more than six-million sound, beneficial Thomas scalp treatments.

Q. Can Thomas grow hair for me?

A. Hair can re-grow or grow thicker in 92% of all cases of hair loss. Thomas specialists know how to overcome the 14 local scalp conditions responsible for 92% of all loss of hair. If you do not come within the scope of Thomas treatment—you will be told immediately.

Q. What makes Thomas Treatment so effective?

A. Thomas offers only a personalized, professional office treatment—no general "cure-all." Thomas first determines the exact cause of your hair-loss—overcomes that, and then stimulates the dormant sources of hair growth. In Thomas treatment all modern therapeutic devices of known value in counteracting hair-loss are used—including ultra-violet radiation, heat, mechanical and manual stimulation, and bacilli-destroying exclusive Thomas formulae. Only Thomas offers a 31-year proved, professional treatment.

Q. Are any hormone preparations used by Thomas?

A. Definitely not! Science has not found hormones to be of value in growing hair, and hormones are dangerous to use unless prescribed and administered by a physician.

Q. Are Thomas treatments easy to take?

A. Yes—after you are accepted for treatment you merely come in to a Thomas office—Thomas does the rest. Almost before you know it your dandruff is gone, hair-fall checked, itch overcome, and thicker hair growth is apparent on the thin and bald areas. Fees for genuine Thomas treatment are actually lower than fees frequently charged for imitation treatments.

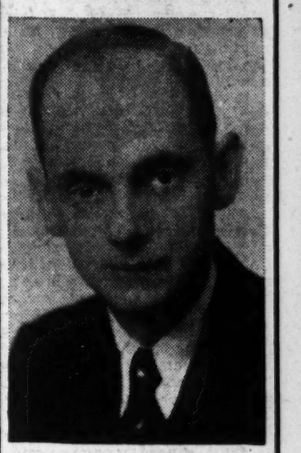

Come in today for a free scalp examination—see for yourself how this reliable, proved treatment works—see how it can help you to have thicker, healthier hair. You, too, can avoid baldness!

Nationalists Say Funds Mishandled

2 Envoys to U. S. Accused, Recalled

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa, Aug. 21. (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists Tuesday accused their air force representative in Washington of failing to account for $19,440,000 and ordered him and an aide to come home.

A government spokesman said the funds entrusted to its representative, Lt. Gen. Mao Pang-Chu, was to buy equipment for the Nationalist air force and to train its personnel.

Shortly after this announcement, the air force reported the dismissal of Mao's executive assistant, Col. Hsiang Wei-hsian. It ordered him home to face charges of dereliction of duty, corruption and suspicion of being a Communist agent.

It was doubtful if either would return to Formosa. They were expected to seek political asylum in the United States. The Nationalist government in the case may try to expedite them.

(There was no immediate comment from Mao in Washington. The Chinese embassy, State Department and other official sources also had no comment.)

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in a mandate accused Mao of "dereliction of duty and disobedience of orders." Mao also was deputy commander-in-chief of the Nationalist air force and was a delegate to the United Nations military staff committee. He has been stationed in Washington since the spring of 1943.

The government spokesman, Shehn Chang-huan, said these five charges were leveled at Mao:

Lack of a clear statement of funds used for buying military equipment; dereliction of duties; impeding the air force's fighting power; espousing the cause of "disloyal" staff members; refusal to hand over public funds, and undermining the government's prestige by spreading rumors.

FULL-FLEDGED PLUMBER IS ONLY SEVEN—PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21—Taking a two-fisted grip on a wrench as he works on the drain pipe under a bathroom sink Bruce Brownstein demonstrates why he was granted an official city plumber's junior apprentice card. Bruce showed up in the office of the city plumbing inspector and asked for a license "because my dad's a plumber and I want to be one, too."

Quint or Sextuplet Birth Due in Chicago, Paper Says

CHICAGO, Aug. 21—(INS)—The Chicago Herald-American said Tuesday it has learned that a Chicago-area woman soon will give birth to quintuplets or possibly sextuplets.

The newspaper's story said the multiple birth is expected late this month or early in September and added that specialists called in on the case believe the chances of survival are excellent.

Names of the expectant mother and her physician were withheld for "protection of the parties chiefly involved."

The newspaper said expert obstetricians "honestly disagree on the number" of children expected. It added:

"Some, using stethoscopes, have detected the heartbeats from six babies. All have easily detected five heartbeats."

X-ray pictures taken early in the pregnancy revealed five infant skeletons and possibly a sixth.

Eatonton Man Fatally Knifed

EATONTON, Aug. 21—(AP)—A Paroled Negro convict stabbed to death W. D. Elder, a lumberman, at the plant of the Ingram-Legrand Lumber Company Tuesday, Police Chief Hudson Baugh reported.

Baugh said the Negro, Bo Griffin, went to the plant for a load of lumber, had trouble with some of the employees and later attacked Elder, stabbing him several times.

J. C. Doster rushed the wounded man to the hospital but he already was dead.

Giffin fled but Baugh arrested him at a home where he was hiding.

The Chief said the Negro had served time for shooting an Eatonton police officer and had been freed on parole.

Elder was married and the father of two children.

Draft Order Issued For Guam, Canal Zone

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—(AP)—President Truman Tuesday ordered draft-age men in Guam and the Canal Zone to register for the draft Sept. 6.

It will be the first registration in the two areas. Selective Service was extended to them by the recently enacted Universal Military Training and Service Act.

Selective Service estimated there are 6,000 men of draft age—18 to 26—in Guam, and 1,500 in Panama.

Zestful Side Dish To Win Applause For Smart Hostess

By AGNES REASOR OLMSTEAD

Homemakers who like to have a few recipes on hand to dress up guest meals will want to clip this one. Creme de Menthe Ice makes a bright fruit cup topping for an appetizer; it is superb as an ice to accompany roast pork, ham or lamb; it is flavorful with a la mode brownies, angel cake or fresh pear pie.

CREME DE MENTHE ICE

1½ cups sugar
3 cups water
½ cup lemon juice
¼ cup creme de menthe sirup

Cook sugar and water together for 5 minutes, cool, and add juice and sirup. Freeze in crank freezer or in refrigerator tray, stirring several times during freezing. Six portions of it stand alone as dessert—eight if served in melon or as a meat accompaniment or appetizer.

SCHOOL DAYS are milk days and homemakers already faced with high costs can look for some real savings in the use of nonfat dry milk. The important news about this product is that it can provide the very elements needed for healthy growth in children. By adding one tablespoon of the powder to one cup of fluid milk you can greatly increase valuable proteins, minerals and vitamins.

Calcium, which is so necessary to bone and tooth development, is upped 25 percent with this addition. Phosphorus, another very important nutrient, is increased by a like amount. Riboflavin gets a boost too. Nonfat dry milk has been used successfully in a number of feeding programs and research projects have proved its worth. Doctors claim the added nutrients not only maintain good health but actually restore health and well being of mal-nourished children.

CONCENTRATED MILK, made by removing two-thirds of the water, is a brand-new product now being tested in some parts of the United States. It is not to be confused with evaporated or condensed milk. Advantages are many. Concentrated milk saves space in the refrigerator because it comes in smaller containers. It can be used as it comes from the container for cream or by the addition of water it can be reconstituted to whole fluid milk. Because of its higher percentage of milk sugar, research indicates that it will keep twice as long as fresh milk. This product is not on the Atlanta market but some traveling Atlantans have met up with it in other cities.

FOUR MILLION COPIES SOLD. That is the best way to tell you about one of America's best-selling cook books, "The Better Homes and Gardens Cook Book." It is easy to understand the reason for this popularity in so short a time. It lies in the high standard of perfection set by the food editor of the magazine, Myrna Johnston. As the presiding genius of the Tasting-Test Kitchen, Mrs. Johnston insists on accurate testing and retesting of all recipes. Her capable staff of home economics graduates release their recipes only after long laboratory research. As a result women can use the recipes and be sure of top results. That's what we want in a cook book but don't always get. The black and white as well as the color photographs are some more of Mrs. Johnston's work to make food look good and to give practical serving ideas. You will enjoy this as an addition to your collection or as a gift to cook-friends.

Bride-to-Be Prizes Heirloom China Gifts From Grandparents

By ANNIE LOU HARDY

Guests who have arrived for the Warren-Thomas wedding Wednesday night include Mr. and Mrs. Carl Daniel, of St. Louis, Mo., who summer at Highlands, N. C., with the Warren family each year; the groom-elect's kinsmen, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McNeel and Miss Louise McNeel, of Sea Island, who are guests of Mrs. Frank Inman at the Georgian Terrace; and former Atlantan Arthur Bird, of San Antonio, Texas.

The bride-elect, Anne Warren, is proudest perhaps of the wedding gifts from her grandmother, Mrs. William Warren, Sr., and her fiance's grandmother, Mrs. Morgan McNeel, Sr., of Marietta. Both have given her china they have had all of their married lives. Mrs. Warren's gift is a complete set (12 of everything) of gold and white Haviland china, and Mrs. McNeel's is a set of a dozen Royal Worcester service plates in gold and blue.

Anne will carry as a bride the rose point lace handkerchief which her mother, Mrs. Green Warren, carried at her wedding. The handkerchief was a gift from the late Mrs. Fred Paxon who brought it from Europe especially for Mrs. Warren.

While Floyd McRae, Jr., is on Army duty at Fort Benning, Mrs. McRae and son, Floyd McRae, III, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hodgson at their summer home at Lakemont. Mrs. McRae is the former Miss Anne Lee.

Mrs. Floyd McRae, Jr.

AFTER an extensive Western trip, Mrs. Ben H. Hines has returned to her home on Piedmont Road. She visited points of interest in the Canadian Rockies, California and Mexico.

FOLLOWING a Summer at Camp Illahee, Brevard, N. C., where she was an instructor in riflery, Mrs. James B. Chisholm, of Evanston, Ill., has arrived to visit Mrs. Benson F. Tigner on Juniper Street.

Mrs. Tigner will entertain a few friends at luncheon Thursday, and again Friday at the Ansley Park Golf Club in compliment to her guest, who lived in Atlanta before moving to Evanston.

MRS. ALAN YATES and her daughter, Margaret Lawson, born Aug. 11, have returned from Emory Hospital to their home on South Prado. The baby was named for her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ellison Robinson of San Francisco. Mrs. Yates is the former Peggy Robinson.

MISS ELEANOR WILL is the guest of Mrs. Southworth Bryan, of Jefferson, at Daytona Beach, Fla., for ten days. Mrs. Bryan, the former Miss Rebekah Scott of Atlanta, is occupying the beach cottage of Mr. Bryan's mother, Mrs. Morris Bryan, Sr., on North Atlantic Avenue at Daytona.

WHEN MRS. A. R. JOHNSON entertained at tea for bride-elect Helen Clanton Tuesday, she centered her tea table with a miniature garden scene because the reception following Miss Clanton's marriage to Duke Meredith Sept. 4 will be held in the gardens of Glenn Memorial Church.

Using a low rectangular receptable, Mrs. Johnson fashioned a garden of feverfew and small white asters. Under a bower flanked by white candles trimmed in valley lilies stood a bridal couple and their attendants. The matron of honor was in aqua and the bridesmaids were in pink just as they will be Sept. 4. Place cards bore figures of bridesmaids wearing the same colors.

VISITORS, including Mr. and Mrs. Archer U. Rodney, Mrs. Rena Danis of Miami, Mrs. Doris Autrey, Miss Doris Autrey, and William S. McGrath, of Asheville, N. C., were honored at a dinner party given on the Biltmore Terrace by Mrs. Marguerite W. Meyer and their brother, Thomas B. West.

A FAREWELL gesture to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Martin was the buffet supper given by Mr. and Mrs. John T. Cocutz at their home at 6674 Peachtree-Dunwody Road. Mr. and Mrs. Martin leave Sept. 2 for Columbia, S. C., where Mr. Martin will be manager of Davison's store.

MISS MARTHA V. SWAIN

Miss Swain, daughter of P. E. Swain and the late Mrs. Swain, of Spartanburg, S. C., is betrothed to John Lee Spratling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Spratling of Hogansville. The wedding will take place Sept. 28 at the Southside Baptist Church of Spartanburg.

A Course in Being a Wife

Doris Tyson, one of her pupils told us, has an uncanny knack of guessing what kind of homes people have by their manner, their conversation, their personality. Mrs. Tyson, this enthusiast assured us, can do a palmist act without looking at your palm if you just spend a little time in her class in homemaking down at Smith-Hughes Vocational School. Furthermore, our caller went on, she can tell you how to hold your husband.

That last got us. When vocational schools start giving courses in husband holding, that sounds dangerously like a swing back to the old days when having a breadwinner was more important to a girl than a career. We called Mrs. Tyson.

"Certainly I devote part of my course to lessons in making husbands happy," she said serenely. "A husband is important to the home and the home is important to the husband. I think it very necessary for my pupils to plan their homes so their husbands are comfortable and happy."

So somewhere in her courses on principles of design, room arrangement and period furniture, china, glass and silver, Mrs. Tyson drives home a few wholesome truths like this:

1. A husband is entitled to the best chair in the house, a chair that suits him perfectly and that is placed where he wants it. With the chair should go a good light for his reading and a table to hold his glass or glasses or both.

2. There should be in every living room a "courting corner." Mrs. Tyson's favorite example sounds a little hot for this weather but she suggests a similarly comfortable chair for the wife, placed closed enough to the husband for hand-holding.

3. The old saw about woman's work being "never done" will not work nowadays because of (you guessed it) those things you are making monthly payments on. This being the case, says Mrs. Tyson, the mechanics of homemaking should never be visible to Papa. You should have your washing, ironing, and mopping out of the way when he comes home and be free to sit down and have a cool drink and some conversation, if you happened to hook the conversational type.

Specifically, the way Mrs. Tyson teaches it, the wife is part of the decoration in the well-decorated home and she darn well better have her lipstick on and be prepared to "make every evening a date" if she wants the house to look right to the old man.

Mrs. Tyson, who lives at 1391 Emory Rd. and practices what she preaches on A. R. Tyson, has been a professional decorator for many years but she does not turn out pros at Smith-Hughes Vocational. Her aim is to make living happier and pleasanter for all and her classes for the last three years have been filled with women from all income groups. The classes, running two and a half hours two mornings a week, are very informal with the teacher calling all the women by their first names. Often pupils bring their personal treasures of old glass or silver to class to add interest to the discussions. Since Smith-Hughes is a part of the Atlanta system the courses are cheap for Fulton residents—$1.50 for the term—and only $3.25 for nonresidents. Registration starts Sept. 10.

Before we hung up we told Mrs. Tyson we'd like to visit during some of her sessions on period furniture.

"You like Early American, don't you?" she said.

We gulped but before we could ask how she knew, she added: "You're down to earth. I bet you like dirty yellow too, don't you?"

Verily, the woman is a seer.

Latest Methods To Lose Friends, Irritate People

By YOLANDE GWIN

The "How to Lose Friends and Irritate People" technique is one of those it-can-never-happen-to-me situations. It's just something other people talk about and do, and it's usually a joke.

But there is one group of women in town who decided to do something about it. As one said, "If we see others acting the wrong way then we won't do it and some of the people we know won't either."

Tuesday night at the Woman's Club, the public affairs committee of the Women's Chamber of Commerce met for supper. The good food was soon gobbled up when word got around that "experts" would give the low down on how to lose friends and irritate people.

First, there was the forum leader, Mrs. Lute Cheek, who is very etiquette-minded. She said that in order never to be invited to visit again, avoid telling the hostess how long you are going to stay; leave your clothes in the middle of the floor; never be on time for meals; charge long-distance calls and always arrive either three hours before or after the scheduled time.

Employer relationship got a going over from Viola Fauss, who urged her listeners to "never let the workers forget you're boss; always take original ideas as your own; always reward workers for a good job by giving her a harder one; call attention to their mistakes before the entire staff; call them at home on Sunday to do work which can be done Monday; always ask them to stay overtime especially when you know they have a date."

Betty Parker discussed child training, because, as the moderator said, "she was a backward child and had not been molested."

"Always let your child answer the telephone, insult the caller so that no one will call anymore," said Miss Parker. "To cut down on your invitations, always take your child visiting, let him head straight for a corner cabinet knowing that the most expensive china will break better, let him break into conversations, teach him to release the brakes on a car parked downhill and let him take the BB gun to all homes."

The office telephone technique was explained by Lawrence Thompson in her forum talk on office etiquette. She said:

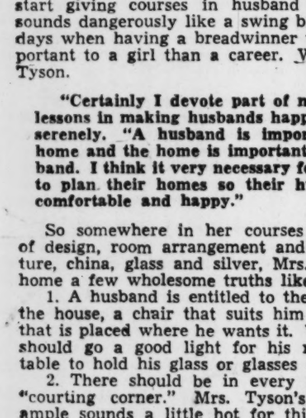

"When anyone calls and asks if the boss is in, ask who wants to know; if a person calls gives his or her name and asks for the boss, always say you'll see if the boss wants to talk; always tell people who call without giving their names that you treat anonymous calls like anonymous letters—ignore them; if the boss or a visitor comes in while you're fixing your nails, just keep on—your nails grew during office hours, so why not file them during office hours the same as you do letters?"

Mrs. Kate Oliver, a contact official on publicity, said:

"Avoid all people who will be good contacts for you; when you meet new people always give fish handshake, take copy to newspapers on a deadline and threaten a reporter with going to the editor or publisher for full coverage and pictures; always demand, never ask."

Sweet Talk Result Of Frequent Brush-Ups

By SCARLETT BLANTON

"Fluoridation of municipal water supplies, with the approval of medical, dental and public health authorities, is perhaps the most significant of precautions for dental health," says Dr. John Buhler, dean of the Emory Dental College in Atlanta.

Fluorine changes the chemical nature of growing teeth and lessens dental cavities from 60 to 65 percent in children, it is thought.

As far as adults are concerned, "If a person will brush his teeth within ten minutes after eating, regardless of whether he uses a dentifrice or just plain water, he will reduce his tooth decay 75 percent," adds Dr. Buhler. Most people don't believe that astounding fact, but it's a proven truth, according to authorities.

When asked about types of brushes or dentifrices, Dr. Buhler didn't specify. It's the number of times you brush your teeth per day, not the type brush or dentifrice you use, that tells the story, he says.

Dental caries (cavities) is the most widespread disease in the U. S., and in the year of 1948 alone, 300 million fillings were needed by children from ages six to 18.

Dr. Buhler says that early dental treatment is of the utmost importance. Cavities should be watched for in the same way as early cancer. Incidentally, dentists are responsible for discovering (in time) more cases of throat cancer than physicians, because of regular visits by their patients.

As far as bad breath is concerned, we're told that if your mouth is healthy and your digestion is up to par, more than likely you'll not suffer loss of friends and family loyalties. Mouthwashes and breath sweeners do temporary good, but the principal guarantee is a clean bill of health from teeth to tummy.

College Girls To Be Honored

A group of girls entering college during the Fall season will be honored Thursday at an al fresco supper to be given by members of the alumnae and the active members of the Kappa Alpha Theta fraternity.

The affair takes place at 5:30 at the home of Mrs. James B. Wilkinson, at 1455 West Paces Perry Rd., N. W. Skits on college life will be presented by Misses Lulu Richardson, Margaret Mew, Eleanor Ellis, Marquin Conklin, Judith Adams, and Nancy McCrorey, of the Gamma Delta Chapter at the University of Georgia. Other members from the Georgia chapter who will attend the affair include Misses Judith Adams, Gloria Butler and Nancy Cooper.

Smart Girls Separate Style

Campus and business girls come in a "separate" category from the rest of the fashion world this Fall. Because separates are their very last word in high fashion. They can be had in every form, size, color and variety, and follow your wardrobe from sun-up to the witching hours. Read about separates in Thursday's All the News About Women section of

Wedding Bells

Clark-Kirby-Smith

Miss Catherine Kirby-Smith, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Reynolds M. Kirby-Smith, of Sewanee, Tenn., became the bride of Harry E. Clark, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Clark, of Chattanooga, at All Saints' Chapel in Sewanee. The Rt. Rev. Frank A. Juhan, Bishop of Florida, officiated. The bride wore aqua lace and carried white flowers. Mrs. Elizabeth Kirby-Smith Clough was her sister's matron of honor, and Gordon M. Clark, of Sewanee, was best man. Mrs. Clark graduated from the University of Florida. She was a WAAC during the war, and held a position with the University Press. Mr. Clark graduated from the University of the South, and was at one time football coach there. He is now a member of the administrative staff, and is president of the Duck River Electrical Corporation, Shelbyville.

Copeland-Walker

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Walker, of Atlanta, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Ann Walker, to John Curtis Copeland, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Copeland, of Sandy Springs, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, with the Rev. J. T. Widener officiating. The bride, a graduate of West Fulton High School, is employed by Southern Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Copeland attended North Fulton High School, and is now employed by the Coca-Cola Company.

Hames-Hardin

The marriage of Miss Betty Rose Hardin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hardin, Sr., of Holly Springs, to Leon Harry Hames, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hames of Woodstock, was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage in Woodstock, with the Rev. Ross Freeman officiating. The bride wore a slate blue satin suit with eggshell accessories, and carried a white satin prayer book topped with white orchids. Miss Sara Hardin, of Holly Springs, was her sister's maid of honor, and Harold Hames, of Atlanta, was best man for his brother. The couple will reside in Woodstock.

Smith-Nowell

Friends in Atlanta and Monroe will learn with interest of the marriage of Miss Joanne Nowell to F. Vernon Smith which took place at the Myers Park Methodist Church in Charlotte, N. C. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Alex R. Davis of Charlotte, and the late Newton Nowell of Monroe. Mrs. Davis is the former Miss Elizabeth Dennis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Dennis, of Atlanta. The couple will reside in Raleigh, N. C.

Darn Curtain Over Paper

If one of your fine curtains develop a hole, you can do a neat job of "invisible mending" by covering the hole with a piece of white paper and then running back and forth under the sewing machine needle. After laundering the curtain the paper will have been soaked away and the darning will be hard to detect.

Woodbine Club

Members of the Woodbine Garden Club, and their families will gather for their annual picnic Thursday at North Fulton Park, at 6 p. m. Hostesses will be Miss Sallie Hancock, Mrs. J. W. Willis, Mrs. Elizabeth Willingham and Mrs. S. E. Craven.

Love and Latins Viewed By Mexican Film Star

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20—(U.P.)—American men are less romantic than Latin men and it's all the fault of American women, Mexican film star Miroslava said Mondy.

Blonde Miroslava, who has been north of the border for a couple of pictures and long enough to compare the U. S. male with his Latin brother, said women in the States just don't know how to treat a man.

That's the reason, she declared, that the American male forgets to send flowers or arrange to have his gal's favorite song played when she meets him on a date.

"In Mexico, a woman is not only a wife, she's a mother, a friend, and a lover."

When the old man comes home from work she doesn't greet him with a ratty bun in her hair, clad in old slippers and a frayed housecoat or slacks. And she doesn't sound off immediately about her latest troubles with the neighbors or the butcher.

"He's had plenty of trouble all day long at the office and more trouble isn't what he wants to hear about," she said.

"Every man has moments when he wants to be babied or loved or be the dominant male and take care of and protect the family."

South of the border, the Czechoslovakian-born beauty said, "The wife adds a touch of flowers around the room just before hubbie comes home, gets into a prety frock, flicks a little perfume behind her ears and wows the guy when he comes in the door.

"He feels like he's courting all over again," she said.

The real trouble with American women, she said, is that they're trying to take over the job that belongs to men.

"And they can't do it. Men are the stronger sex. We're the weaker. Physically we can't compete with them. So why try? Why get frustrated trying? The greatest privilege of being a woman is being feminine—sitting back and letting the man make the decisions.

"And that's the way we have it in Mexico. What a man says in the house, that goes, and the women like it. And in return for that she gets protected, loved and cherished.

Such chivalrous gestures as lighting cigarets for the lady and opening doors for her come naturally when the woman develops that proper atmosphere.

"Women here give 50 percent—but they also expect to take 50 percent," she said. "In my country the woman gives and takes but doesn't bother about the percentage."

After Laundering New Towels Will Absorb More

Absorbency is important in dish towels and so is sanitation. Launder those new kitchen towels before using them to prevent the spread of germs and to obtain maximum absorbency immediately. The fibers in a new towel are somewhat flattened, say the textile experts, and not as absorbent as they should be; it's the laundering process that fluffs them up.

Five Feet Away Comforts You

The question of eye strain has been almost as loudly debated as the question of the quality of TV programs. Eye specialists agree that the most comfortable distance from a small or moderate-sized screen should be roughly 10 times the diameter of the screen. They advise against sitting closer than five feet, but admit that only comfort, not health, is at stake.

Wax Will Protect Vacation Home

Keep a practical eye on the springtime when you button up your vacation cottage for its solitary Winter in the country. "Baten down the hatches" solidly to withstand Winter storms, but, give them a coat of wax before you do.

A few minutes extra this Fall spent in waxing the edges of all doors, windows, drawers and other friction spots that often stick from lack of use, will insure their good working order when you open the house next year. A heavy application of wax on window sills and the floor areas beneath them or adjacent to the doors will help protect them from rain damage.

MARY HAWORTH

Wife Troubled by Despondent Moods In Which She Doubts Love for Husband

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have been married five years, and have two fine sons and a good husband. Usually I am a happy, easy-going person, well liked by those who know me.

My problem is hard to explain. When I feel at the end of my rope I've tried talking to Jim about it, and soon afterward I get hold of myself and feel all right again. He doesn't really understand what depresses me, though; and I have told him that I sometimes just wonder if I love him as I should.

I get this feeling every month or so; and while it lasts I am indifferent to Jim, even though we are well adjusted sexually. When it seems I don't love him, it makes me miserable; I almost cry to think of it. Other times I feel so good, and love him and the boys with all my heart. I simply couldn't break up our family, although I have thought of it when in the dumps; then later I'm sorry I ever had such a silly notion.

Can you give me any insight into the trouble, and tell me if it is real or imaginary?—E. P.

DEAR E. P.: I am indebted to a handsome new publication, "The Psychiatric Bulletin," issued by the University of Texas—with the backing of the Texas State Board of Health—for an authoritative medical treatise that sheds light on your case.

In Volume 1, Number 1, of this magazine written primarily for physicians and launched last December, there is an article entitled "Premenstrual Tension," which reveals that as many as 40 percent of normal women experience, with monthly regularity, such symptoms as you describe. In a kind of rhythmic cycle, these women become cross, irritable, hard to live with; sometimes to an extent that drives the husband to more agreeable female company.

It is surmised that the basis is largely emotional, rather than physical. It is thought that the woman's early impressions of human biology, physiology, sexuality, etc., were tinctured by misinformation, ignorance and prudery, which leave a residue of fear, and dread of injury, in her unconscious feelings about the reproductive phenomenon. Hence the involuntary mood of rejecting her spouse, as she senses the tides of nature reclaiming her, periodically.

We are told that the physician often can break the tension by giving the patient correct information about the physiology of the menstrual cycle, particularly if she's never had sound information on this score before.

As you are a homebody without much time for social exchange with neighbors and friends, it is probable that you tend to brood, instead of getting worries off your chest spontaneously. And speaking of premenstrual anxiety, the article says, "The relief of talking to the doctor may be all the patient needs. . . . This relaxes her mentally and physically, and she is then better able to accept her own feelings about the experience. From then on it is easier for the doctor to indicate the emotional aspects of the disturbance."

Finally, we are told, "Fresh insight into self and psychological growth often result from a quiet half-hour talking with an understanding physician." However, if this measure, plus some medication, doesn't bring relief, then some deeper psychiatric exploration of the difficulty should be undertaken, our expert adds.—M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Constitution.

What's Your Sex Quotient?

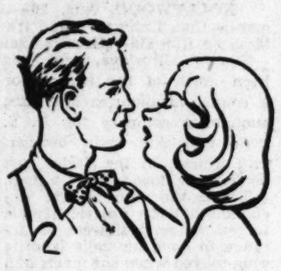

By MARTHA SMITH

Does a man's mind lurk in your feminine body? Or has that six-foot-three man about your house a few female characteristics hiding beneath his heavy beard?

It can happen.

Psychologists say that many personality traits have no regard for sex. In fact, many a woman owns a male mentality. How do you stack up? Try this for size.

Envision a kiss . . . only make believe, and what happens? If you're strictly feminine you'll turn up your face and shut your eyes. A man bends his head down and takes aim with both eyes wide open.

Try on a glove. Men will pull it on any which way with the palm turned up and a strong grasp on the glove-cuff. A woman'll slide it on gently and fit each finger carefully.

Pick up a handkerchief from the floor. Nearly every time a woman'll bend at the hips and stoop to conquer. But a man will bend from the waist, keeping his legs straight.

Look at your fingernails. If you looked over the back of your hand with fingers extended and spread, that's the ladies' way. If you folded your fingers over the palm and regarded the nails, thumb down, it's a masculine trait.

Strike a match. Men generally palm the folder and strike the match toward the body, while a woman holds the folder daintily with her fingertips and strikes AWAY from herself.

How do you put out a candle? Most men pinch out the flame with tougher fingers than a woman owns, who'll lean over and blow out the light.

What happens when you sit down? The masculine element will sit, separate the legs and most often cross an ankle over a knee. But the ladies ease into a chair, with a respect for hemlines, cross knees and tug at the aforementioned dress bottom.

That's seven steps. How'd you come out? If you scored a total F, you're probably somebody's ideal woman. But if you marked up a 100 percent M, never mind. In this day of equal rights, who cares?

Atlanta Girls Win at Camp

Atlanta girls attending Camp Nakanawa have been among the most outstanding of the season's campers and upon their return home they brought with them a variety of prizes, camp letters as well as honor ratings.

In the senior camp, Miss Misse Cardwell won the riding cup and was runner-up for the fencing medal. Miss Eugenia Edmondson won both the diving and archery medals and Miss Lanny Tuller was runner-up for the riding cup and archery medal.

Miss Laura Hay was named the most outstanding new camper among the juniors, and Miss Nan Grey Atkins won the riding cup and the silver letter, while Miss Marsha Hill was elected Posture Queen and Miss Pam Patterson won a silver letter. Among the intermediate campers, Miss Martha Dickinson was named the Lady of the Necklace, and was awarded the canoeing and swimming medals.

Boy on a Bike Also Has Duty About Safety

By GLADYS BEVANS

When the young sprout in our family just graduated to a two-wheeler, we made it our business not to get him an adult size. He's very tall for his age—long-legged—and might have managed it.

But we put off the "evil day," because we thought that he'd feel so old he would aspire to longer sallies, out on the main roads; and while we were prepared to put our foot down (and this time I guess my foot would have gone down too), and forbid the privilege, we thought it would speak for itself if he only had a junior size two-wheeler. And it has.

With my own son, in the past, and now, too, I dread the day when a boy or girl is old enough to have a full-sized bike and to realy ride off on the traveled are at present, and on a hill, I go about in our little car a good deal on errands and so forth, and the young bicycle-riders turn my blood cold. They're so unpredictable; they wobble so on the road; some even ride two abreast; at dusk or later, I've never seen one with a light.

Boys and girls who have bikes should have safety-training at home. And don't think I'm just a nervous woman. This is a recognized hazard. The National Safety Council is campaigning for bicycle safety, with the following as one of their suggestions.

Traffic violations of young bicycle riders can be brought to the attention of the riders and their parents by having local police departments give tickets to bicyclists violating traffic laws with impunity. The youngster is required to bring the ticket to his parent for signature, and then return it to the police department.

In some cities where this project has been tried, a policeman visits the homes of those parents who did not return the ticket. The police take no action, but urge parents to have children attend or take part in some safety activity, such as school safety patrol, school safety council, bicycle club, etc. They recommend keeping safety on a voluntary basis.

How Much Milk Will 1 Hour's Work Buy?

CHICAGO, Aug. 21—The average factory worker can now buy 6.9 quarts of fresh milk with one hour's wages as against 3.9 quarts in 1929 and should, therefore, include more milk in his meals to make up for calcium deficiencies in his diet, asserts Milton Hult, President of the National Dairy Council.

"Based on a recent Government survey, one-third of our city families eat meals which provide insufficient calcium, a mineral essential to all body cells," Mr. Hult said. "Milk is the chief source of calcium in foods."

Commenting that industrial workers comprise a large porportion of the population of most cities, Mr. Hult said that they ought to include more milk in their daily meals because the nutrients which make for good health are contained in abundance in milk.

"Good health," he emphasized, "means good factory records, increased production of goods, and a stronger America."

"Because of its rich supply of nutrients, milk is one of the best bargains in foods," Mr. Hult declared. "Only a few minutes' labor in this country will pay for a high-quality, pasteurized quart bottle of milk.

General tendencies—Today will not be a good time for beginning new ventures or trying to reach final decisions. There are many reactions here which seem to work backward, as you will find out if you try to push people just now. Take my advice and wait until after Labor Day if you want to see quick results and an up-and-coming attitude among those whom you do business with. Your mail or communications will be particularly apt to slow down here—don't let it worry you. Everyone is geting the same thing.

If It's Your Birthday—While your next few weeks may seem slow, this will not be a dull year for you and you can expect new conditions after the early weeks of 1952. Maybe the days will move more quickly and let you feel the upsweep in December of this year, but not much before. You have the moon in Taurus for your coming year and can count upon fixed and definite progress in business matters, but you will also find yourself in some misunderstanding with a former associate or older person. Use tact here because this situation can be disagreeable.

Drygoods

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—(AP)—Further large sales of print cloths, at advancing prices, again took place in the Worth Street market Tuesday. The increased volume of business, which was started late last week, involved goods for spot and fourth-quarter delivery. Some supplies however, in instances involving several million yards were even taken for delivery in the first quarter of 1952. An improved inquiry was indicated for heavy sheetings, but in the aggregate the volume of business in this section of the market was small. The improved sales follow more than five months of inactivity, while consumers were working on surplus stocks. Some mill merchants were expecting that the market will continue to attract further buyers and that a good business can be expected into the fall. In other directions, however, mill representatives warned that the large cotton crop may cause buyers to abstain in hopes of getting cheaper goods when it starts to move in heavy volume in about two to three weeks. The popular 80x89 39-inch print cloth overnight was boosted ½ cent to 20½ cents a yard.

Woolen and worsteds continued to be stalemated by a desire to await wool auctions at Australia next week. New Zealand started last week with a lower trend, but prices are now firming. However, the Australian auctions are the primary ones and it is expected that prices for domestic goods will be based on levels which will prevail at the Commonwealth sales. Overnight the quartermaster asked for offers on 2,400,000 yards of blended serge for January-March delivery. Offers will be opened Sept. 18.

While rayon goods remained in plentiful supply, merchants are noting an improved demand for spot and forward delivery. Despite the better buying, however, there has been no noticeable stiffening in prices. It is believed that wholesalers are picking up goods in hopes of moving them into consuming channels the next six weeks.

Cotton Futures Close Higher

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—(AP)—Cotton futures moved over a narrow price range in quiet dealings Tuesday. Trade interest supported the market which had a steady tone with contracts supplied by hedges and profit taking. Further improvement in cotton goods business was responsible for some of the buying with covering against export sales also aiding the list.

Discussions at Washington between Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Southern congressmen, the latter seeking to maintain higher cotton prices in the face of prospective larger cotton crop, attracted considerable attention but had little influence on the market.

The government weekly crop and weather report issued Tuesday was construed as favorable with the cotton crop progressing favorably under ideal conditions in all territories except a few small sections of Texas and Louisiana.

Futures closed 15 to 65 cents a bale higher than the previous.

Most Grains Close Higher

CHICAGO, Aug. 21—(AP)—A little confirmed export business in wheat and corn, with a larger volume anticipated, gave grains a better tone at the Board of Trade Tuesday. Mexico took 1,000,000 bushels of wheat and the United Kingdom a cargo of corn. The trade expects Italy to take somewhere around 10 cargoes of wheat soon, probably overnight. This developed some short covering which overcame new crop hedging pressure toward the close.

Soybeans and new rye were actively traded and both advanced. Oats made a little progress on commercial buying, but lard found the going difficult.

At the finish wheat was 1¼ to 1⅜ higher than Monday's close, September $2.41⅝-½. Corn was ⅛ lower to 2¾ higher, September $1.74½-⅝. Oats were ¾ to 1 cent higher, September 79¼-79. Rye (new) was 1 cent to 5¼ higher, September $1.71½. Soybeans were 2¼ to 4½ higher, September $2.89-$2.89¼. Lard was unchanged to 3 cents a hundredweight higher, September $17.57.

Businessmen Here Honor Rural Builders of Faith

Town and Country Ministers' School Gives Leaders Awards

By BILL BORING

Away back in Union County a little mountain girl in calico and wearing her hair in pigtails will arise in her Sunday School class to recite the Scripture-prayer she has memorized and how she brings it off is of much concern to Big Business here in Atlanta.

For Big Business is probably more aware than most people and organizations that the strength and vitality of America stems from the "grass roots." Big Business knows that if we are to remain healthy and prosperous we must be spiritually and economically healthy at rock-bottom and that the one complements the other.

It is not just by whim that the Federal Land Bank, before approving an individual's loan, often takes a look at his church. If the building is well kept, if the grounds are neat, the loan usually is authorized.

And it is not all bigness of heart and good public relations for many of the big and small business firms of Atlanta and elsewhere in the nation to support the work of rural churches. It's good business practice too.

Tuesday night at Glenn Memorial Church, business and the church renewed for another year a partnership in sponsoring a Town and Country Ministers' School and joined with other sponsors, Emory University and The Progressive Farmer magazine in honoring 14 rural pastors from as many states as Rural Minister of the Year for their states.

Each of the rural ministers was cited for community service over and above that usually recognized. Georgia's minister so cited was the Rev. Jack Waldrop, pastor of 10 churches in Union County, a man, the citation said, "who not only had helped bring green pastures to Union County but has brought faith to the hearts of her people."

A CHURCH GROWS

From Alabama the Rev. M. Lockhart, Baptist minister of Holtville, was cited. Twenty months ago, under a shade tree, he organized a new church with six women, two girls and one man as charter members. Today the church property includes a two-story departmentalized church building, a pastor's home and a full church organization.

From Arkansas, the Rev. John E. Evans was honored; he who not only is a leader in spirituality, but is a sportsman, fond of the fox chase but who never leads a chase without first delivering a short sermon and uttering a prayer.

Louisiana's Rev. Alexander Bartus, pastor of the Hungarian Presbyterian Church, Albany, was the Bayou state's honoree. Preacher, teacher, editor, farmer, bookkeeper, community leader, he is described as one of the "best known, best loved men" of his state.

THEY ARE MANY

The Rev. Dumont Clarke, religious director of the Farmers Federation, Asheville, is the Tar Heel State's Minister of the Year. He has worked unceasingly in the promotion of the Lord's Acre and Scripture programs.

And so it goes, each of the ministers has done outstanding work in their states—the Rev. Horace L. Boyd, of Greensboro, Fla., the Rev. T. W. Spicer, of Nicholasville, Ky., the Rev. F. M. Kincaid, of Booneville, Miss.; the Rev. Alton M. Hawkins, of Hollis, Okla.; the Rev. John V. Murray, Jr., of Ridgeville, S. C.; the Rev. Vernon Bradley, of Monroe, Tenn.; the Rev. J. R. Kidwell, of LaPryor, Texas; Dr. R. G. Hutcheson, of Louisa, Va., and the Rev. W. W. Harvey, of Rowlesburg, W. Va.

SPONSORS

The citations climaxed the Town and Country School held annually at Emory University and in which both Emory and The Progressive Farmer magazine cooperate. Financial backing for the school and rural ministers' program is given by the sponsoring businessmen and organization, including:

Dr. D. W. Brooks, Mrs. R. L. Williamson, M. A. Jamison, D. Abbott Turner, John H. Brown, Nesbitt Tilly, Dr. Earl Brewer, the Farm Foundation, W. P. Sewell, the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, The Progressive Farmer, F. W. Woolworth Company, the Rev. Swoll Sawyer, George Winship, Hal M. Smith, Downtown Chevrolet Company, D. M. Hastings, Charles F. Stone, Armco Drainage and Metal Products Company, Robert B. Troutman, Joe High Williams, the Kroger Company, Citizens and Southern National Bank, Dargan, Whitington, and Conner, the Fulton National Bank, Town and Country Commission of Western North Carolina, the Rev. R. A. Bivens, W. C. Wardlow, Jr., Southern Fertilizer and Chemical Company, the First National Bank, the Division of Home Missions of the Methodist Church, F. M. BUSINESS

$86 Million In New Plants In 6 Months

A total of $86,000,000 of new manufacturing plants were established in Georgia in the first half of 1951, the Georgia Department of Commerce states in its annual report.

Emory L. Butler, chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the department, said the expenditure covered 70 new factories, which will employ more than 20,000 persons and provide an annual payroll of approximately $60,000,000.

Butler said negotiations presently are pending for a $21,000,000 plant to be built in Georgia. He didn't divulge the company involved or the site.

Trading Up, Stocks Hit Easy Stride

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—Stocks developed easiness in slightly larger trading in the final hour Tuesday and closing quotations generally were lower after selected gains earlier in the session. The steel issues were in rather heavy supply. Losses generally were no more than a point. Some stocks, however, maintained their early gains, including a few that advanced sharply on corporate developments.

Activity in the last hour, which was the largest for the session, expanded the volume for the day to 1,400,000 shares, compared with 1,130,000 on Monday. The market also was a bit broader and of the 1,132 issues traded, 551 declined, 316 advanced and 265 closed unchanged. Thirty-seven stocks managed to touch new highs for the year and four sold at new lows.

United States Steel was among the 15 most active issues, closing ½ point lower at 42. Bethlehem dropped a point to 51¾ and Republic lost ⅝ to 41. National moved against the trend and finished at a net gain of ½ at 51½.

The motor group was easier. Chrysler yielded ⅝ to 69⅝ and General Motors was down ¼ to 49⅝. Goodyear stood out among the rubbers, reflecting its favorable earnings in the first half of this year, the old shares sold at 94¾, closing at 93½ for a net gain of 2½ points.

Square D, the second most active issue, featured the electric equipment group, finishing at 27⅞ for an advance of 2⅛ points on a turnover of 21,500 shares. Both Westinghouse and General Electric however, lost fractionally.

America Telephone, which had moved steadily in the past few sessions, lost a point to 161⅝ under a moderate amount of selling. Corn products also was in supply and dropped 1½ to 76¼. American Can. however, gained a point at 116.

STATE OF GEORGIA,
COUNTY OF FULTON,
CITY OF ATLANTA

Notice to property owners on Windsor Street of the introduction of an ordinance to pave same with pavement, as follows, to-wit: Asphalt or Concrete (Baby Bond Paving Plan).

The owners of property along Windsor Street, between its intersection with University Avenue and Fletcher Street, and others interested, are hereby notified that an ordinance has been introduced in the General Council of The City of Atlanta for the pavement of said portion of said street with pavement as follows: Asphalt or Concrete—Under Baby Bond Paving Plan. The probable cost per front foot of said pavement is $4.58. Said property owners or others interested are notified to appear before the regular meeting of the General Council on the 4th day of September, 1951, to make any and all objections they may desire to urge to the passage of said ordinance. At this time full opportunity will be given them, if they desire to use same, to make any and all objections they may desire to urge to the passage of said ordinance.

Given under the authority of the Mayor and General Council this 21st day of August, 1951.
J. L. RICHARDSON,
Clerk of Council.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at the meeting of the Mayor and General Council of the City of Atlanta, Georgia, held at the City Hall in said City on the 20th day of August, 1951, an Ordinance was introduced and read providing for the laying of a 6-inch Water Main in NORTHSIDE DRIVE, N. W., from a point 150 feet north of West Garmon Road, northwardly to Dowis Drive.

Said Water Main to be laid at an estimated cost of $13,469.61.

Said Ordinance for the installation of said Water Main may be adopted at the meeting of the Mayor and General Council of said City to be held Tuesday, September 4, 1951, at 2:00 o'clock P. M., in the Council Chamber or at any subsequent meeting of said Mayor and General Council. Said Water Main is to be installed in accordance with an Act amending the Charter of said City, assessing the cost thereof against the property and estates respectively abutting on each side of said Water Main according to their frontage.

GIVEN under my hand and Seal of Office this 21st day of August, 1951.
J. L. RICHARDSON,
Clerk of Council.

ON THE WAY!

Big timber from the mountain to the mill—raw materials from field and mine to the centers of industry—finished products from factory to consumers everywhere. Yes, the nation is really on the way to stepped-up production for peace and defense.

The Milwaukee Road is on the way, too—on the way forward to even higher standards of transportation service. "If it's good, make it better"—that's the word on the Milwaukee these days! Travelers and shippers are cordially invited to call on their nearest Milwaukee Road representative for transportation counsel.

Children's Identification Tags on Way

Distribution of 50,000 identification "dog tags" to Atlanta school children will be mapped Wednesday at a meeting of the Civil Defense committee of the City Board of Education.

G. M. (Pup) Phillips, Greater Atlanta Civil Defense Director, said he expects the tags to be available some time in October.

Phillips said the tags, which will be made from a tough new alloy, eventually will be distributed to 250,000 Atlantans.

First, he said, they will go to Atlanta children and 75,000 other children in the Greater Atlanta area.

Also on the committee agenda will be recommendations by Phillips for evacuation of schools and establishment of shelter areas.

Phillips said he has recently completed a survey of the three general types of Atlanta school buildings and established plans for taking shelter in case of attack.

The Civil Defense director also disclosed that recent cuts in Federal appropriations would not materially affect the program here. He said the funds cut were matching funds and that neither Atlanta nor the State had appropriated funds to match them.

Firemen Wanted

City Personnel Director Carl Sutherland Tuesday issued an urgent call for between 100 and 150 new firemen.

Atlanta needs the men for a new training program slated to get under way Sept. 10, Sutherland said. Only 100 applicants have responded to a month-old recruiting program, he said.

Mayor Refers Request

A petition presented Tuesday by City employees asking for a cost-of-living salary increase was referred to Council's Finance Committee by Mayor Hartsfield.

The petition, signed by members of a seven-man group, cited a 12 percent rise in the cost of living and increased burden of the sales tax as necessity for salary increases.

Grandma Crider Nears 100th Year

"Grandma" Emmaline Crider Sunday will celebrate 100 years of Georgia living when her family gathers at a birthday anniversary-reunion at her home on Fairburn Road in Fulton County.

The bonnet-crowned little woman still threads her own needles and attends church, especially if there's to be an all day sing. She's happy about the gathering of her 32 grandchildren, 76 great-grandchildren and 20 great-great-grandchildren for the reunion.

Her only worry is the deafness that keeps her from hearing the cackling of her favorite guineas, says her son, Robert, 76. Her delight is television and she hopes to see an all-day sing televised.

She lives with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Mullins.

NEWS ABOUT GEORGIA

Constitution State News Service

About the meanest bunch of goons in Georgia, thinks Farmer A. L. Allegood, of Doerun, visited his farm Sunday, while the family was away, poured poison in a stock water pond, to kill what few fish were there and left the contaminated water for his fine animals to get to. Most of the dead fish have been removed, the animals are being watched for reaction to poison, and mad Farmer Allegood has posted a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the poisoners. . .

Huge Man?

A huge bone, unearthed by Dr. A. R. Kelly, archeologist of the University of Georgia at diggings near Albany may prove to be part of the remains of a monstrous prehistoric man, the scientist has said. . . . Gov. Talmadge will highlight the current Georgia Mountain Fair at Hiawassee Wednesday when he appears on the program for an address. . . . Laurens countians had a nice gift handed them in the recent meeting of county commissioners: a two-mill reduction in the county tax levy. . . .

Precedent Broken

The Georgia Prison Warden's Association, in annual convention at Savannah has broken precedent and re-elected all its officers. Heading the slate is Carl Mills, Fulton County, president. . . . Miss Christelle Taylor, Alma, Miss Veterans of Foreign Wars of Georgia, will accompany the Georgia delegation to the national convention in New York Sunday, to seek national beauty honors. . . . Polk County citizens will vote Sept. 25, whether to issue bonds in the amount of $620,000 to finance school improvements . . .

Boy Got Right Arm Wedged in Mailbox

SOUTHEND, Eng. Aug. 21—(AP) Kevin Finnigan, aged nine, went to the mailbox and posted (1) a letter and (2) his right arm.

Firmly wedged in the slot by the elbow, Kevin yelled.

A fireman finally got Kevin his arm back by greasing the elbow and giving a firm tug.

Official Praises Blood Bank Here

Dr. Ross T. McIntyre, national administrator of the Red Cross blood program and personal physician to the late President Roosevelt, inspected the new Red Cross Building at 848 Peachtree St., N. E., Tuesday and lauded "foresight used in its planning."

The blood bank here is "totally adequate for handling all blood needed from this section," Dr. McIntyre said.

Dr. McIntyre, former surgeon general of the Navy who first asked the Red Cross to administer a blood program in 1940, expressed regrets that he was unable to visit Warm Springs while in Georgia. He returned to Washington Tuesday night for a short stay before resuming visits to other Red Cross areas.

Money to Loan 72

MONEY
While You Wait
AUTO LOANS

The fastest and easiest way to get a loan is to borrow the money on your car. There is only one thing to do—park your car either in our lot or near our office, come in and show us proof of ownership. The entire transaction takes only a few minutes and you can drive away with the cash in your pocket. This is absolutely nothing else to it.

FURNITURE LOANS
Bring your own list—you get the money immediately.

SIGNATURE LOANS
You can get up to $1,000 on your signature. Immediate cash.

OTHER LOANS
No matter what type of loan you want, we make it a point to give you the money without delay.

We will be glad to reduce present payments on any loan or obligation you now have, and give you additional cash besides.

Dr. BRADY

There's a world of difference between daydreaming and moping. Bright youngsters daydream; dull ones mope.

This does not imply that the child 12 or 15 years of age who daydream occasionally is exceptionally bright, nor that the young one who mopes sometimes is dull. For goodness sake let 'em mope or daydream a bit without making an issue of it. You probably daydreamed or moped just as much when you were in your 'teens.

It is time to do something about it when a growing youngster begins to mope a good deal, feels too tired to play or study and becomes increasingly quiet or moody.

Please let me say that the worst thing you can do is to blame the boy or girl for it. The child is less to blame for the trouble than you are for the arteriosclerosis, diabetes or rheumatiz you may be training for right now.

The first thing to do is send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for two separate pamphlets, The Iodin Ration and The Red Blood Vitamin. Then, while waiting for the pamphlets to arrive, make an appointment with your family physician for an examination of the youngster for tuberculosis. The examination should include physical examination of the chest and an X-ray film—and the X-ray film should be interpreted by the family physician in conference with the X-ray technician.

Chances are about 100 to 1 that the examination will be negative—disclose no sign of tuberculosis. But it is essential if you wish to give the child a break. If the examination reveals that the youngster has tuberculosis how happy you will be for detecting the disease in the earliest (incipient) stage, when proper treatment will surely bring early arrest.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed in a request addressed to Dr. Brady, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Jarrell, West Appear On TV Press Gallery

WSB-TV's own Meet the Press show, entitled Press Gallery, will tell how Atlanta and Fulton County schools will operate under the Plan of Improvement, in a television highlight at 8:30 Wednesday night.

Miss Ira Jarrell and Paul West, superintendents of Atlanta and Fulton schools, respectively, will be interviewed by Ralph McGill, editor of The Constitution; Leo Aikman, editorial assistant and Mrs. Martha Smith, of the Home and Family Department of The Constitution.

Athletics—a prize fight and a ball game—highlight listening and viewing Wednesday night also.

The Crackers and the Lookouts meet at Ponce de Leon Park at 8:15 p. m. with WAGA-TV cameras on the scene, while the long-heralded championship bout between Joey Maxim and Bob Murphy holds interest on WAGA radio at 9.

Two film features will be featured on WSB-TV at 12:15 and 11 p. m. Matinee show is "Philo Vance Gambles" and the night movie will be "Smart Guy" with Rick Vallin.

"Old Doc," a touching drama by Jean Lee Latham, will be presented on the Kraft Television Theater at 9-WSB-TV. Vaughan Taylor and John Stephen will play the leads.

Conrad Janis plays the starring role of a teen-age drug addict when "Killers in the City" spotlight the ravages of narcotics on Suspense at 11 p. m.-WAGA-TV.

On the Air—

Arthur Fiedler, conductor of the Boston Pops Orchestra, will be the guest at "Meredith Willson's Music Room" at 10:30 p. m.-WSB. Host Willson will spin some of Fielder's best record releases and chat with his guest between spins.

A gullible but innocent prize-fighter becomes an innocent pawn in a deadly conspiracy between two men who want to gain control of his services in "The Case of the Beautiful Bait," dramatized on WSB's "The Falcon" show at 8:30 p. m.

A master-criminal is captured through a reporter's efforts in the real-life "Big Story" drama tonight at 10 p. m.-WSB. In 1946 the Massachusetts police were disturbed by a series of car thefts. Brennan remembered a man who had a past record that seemed to point to these thefts. Working on his hunch, Brennan set out on his manhunt that led him through the New England states. The elusive criminal was finally caught, convicted and sent to the penitentiary. As a result, Brennan will receive the program's $500 award for notable service in journalism.

Two Weeks with Murder

The rain lashed at the vacation hotel high up on the mountain—lightning peered through the windows and threw an eerie light about the room. Their faces were gaunt, nerves twisted to the breaking point. Time was running out—the killer had struck once and this time murder stalked David's lovely wife—Sally! Could David pick the murderer out of the six people in that room. Can David Farrell get the killer before he claims Sally as his next victim?

TWENTY-ONE AND BEAUTIFUL, TOO

Britain's Princess Margaret Came of Age Tuesday

Fabulous Birthday Party Given Princess Margaret

CRATHIE, Scotland, Aug. 21—(UP)—Bonfires blazed on the hilltops around Balmoral Castle Tuesday night as Princess Margaret, the most eligible girl in the world, celebrated her 21st birthday surrounded by three of her most eligible suitors.

The pert Princess marvelled over her fabulous gifts, including a sleek Daimler roadster, pearls, diamond earrings and a mink cape. She went to a picnic, cut a big birthday cake and had a dinner party.

But she kept silent on the subject all Britain was waiting to hear—who would win her heart.

Britons clucked sadly when they learned that not one—but three—young men were house guests at Margaret's coming of age party. They took this to mean that Europe's prettiest princess has not yet bestowed her heart.

The young swains were Billy Wallace, wealthy stepson of American writer Herbert Agar; Lord Dalkeith, son of the Duke of Duccleuch and Lord Ogilvy, son of the Earl of Arlie.

King George and Queen Elizabeth made this a birthday to remember for their daughter.

The day started with a family breakfast. Then there was a picnic lunch on the grouse-shooting moors where the King proposed the birthday toast in champagne.

The Royal Family assembled again for tea where Margaret's 30-pound birthday cake—topped with coat of arms in icing—was cut, and Tuesday night there was a small dinner party for 30.

All three young men attended all of the functions.

All day and all evening, letters, cables and gifts whose total worth was estimated as high as $200,000, came into the castle.

Bonfires burned from the hilltops, just as they did on that stormy night in 1930 when Margaret was born in historic Glamis Castle, setting for Shakespeare's "Macbeth."

Peanut Acreage

Constitution State News Service

OGLETHORPE—There are 8,367 acres of peanuts planted in Macon County this year, as shown by the records in the local PMA office. The crop is good, with little infestation of worms, W. E. Hunter, County Agent, said. Most of the peanuts in this county will be sold as allotted peanuts and permitted acreage for oil.

The natural method of child-planning

Now couples can plan to have children when they want them, by a simple method that doesn't violate the scruples of any religious group.

In September Reader's Digest, Dr. Morris Fishbein explains how and why this new method works.

There are only about two days each month when a woman can conceive a child; Dr. Fishbein tells how the great majority of women can learn when they can conceive by keeping a record of their daily temperatures.

In-Again-Out-Again Sailor Finally Out

CHICAGO, Aug. 21—(AP)—A sailor who served in Korean combat zones at a time when his file showed he had been discharged was back in the ranks of civilians Tuesday.

The in-again-out-again go's is Henry G. Olszewski, 34.

He was in the Navy in World War II. He was a machinist repairman, first class.

After the war he was a member of a Naval reserve unit in Chicago.

The Public Information Office at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center takes it up from there, as follows:

Olszewski applied for a discharge, in writing, on or about July 15, 1950. Prior to that date a reservist could get a discharge by so applying. But on that date the Navy changed its policy.

The commander of Olszewski's reserve unit filed out his discharge certificate July 17, 1950, and put it in the pocket of the folder containing Olszewski's record.

At the next weekly meeting of the unit, some of Olszewski's mates told him his discharge was not valid, and he assumed it wasn't.

He was called into active service Oct. 9, 1950. He was assigned to the Askari, a repair craft. He was in the combat areas during the Hungnam operation and evacuation last December and at Pusan last April. He won the Korean medal.

But later, a yeoman (clerk) found the discharge certificate in Olszewski's folder.

"Say," he said, "you haven't been in the Navy since July 17, 1950."

Olszewski returned to the Great Lakes Center June 1, and waited for his case to go through the official machinery.

The Bureau of Navy Personnel in Washington ruled Friday Olszewski had applied for a release before July 15, 1950. It found that, despite the records, he was in fact in the Navy, however, and decided to issue a new discharge for him.

So, Olszewski now is back home with his wife and son.

World War II Cost Totaled 4 Trillion

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—(INS). Sen. McMahon (Dem., Conn.) said Tuesday the legislative reference service of Congress has put the total cost of World War II at four trillion dollars and 40 million lives.

He said he asked the service for the compilation, which he relayed to the Senate in reply to economy advocates.

It Took Four To Put Fat Man on Feet

LONG BEACH, Calif., Aug. 21—(AP)—Because he weighs as much as four ordinary men, it took that many to put Eugene Atkins, 20, back on his feet after a chair collapsed under him Monday.

Atkins weighs 682 pounds.

His friends couldn't get him to his feet, so they called the Fire Department. The firemen managed to maneuver the huge man to the edge of the back porch where he swung his legs over the side and got his feet on the ground.

Atkins, slightly bruised, walked back into the house.
